Dairy Numbers Decrease By 12,000

Lancaster Farm Production Value Down $10 Million

BY LISA RISSER

LANCASTER — Lancaster County farmers saw a $10-million decrease in the value of their products last year, according to a study conducted by Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

The decline, fueled by a drop in numbers and in value of the county's livestock industry, was offset somewhat by an increase in the value of last year's crops, which brought farmers almost $112 million.

The report, which is compiled by the Crop Reporting Service, indicated that the total value for Lancaster County agricultural products was $686.8 million. Of that, $111.7 million was from crops and $575.1 was from livestock and poultry. The dollar value of farm production for last year was about the same as that reported in 1985. The number of farms has remained constant, while the total field crop acres dropped by 3,340 from 1986 levels.

For the first time since county officials have been keeping records, there has been a decline in the number of cows in Lancaster County. "But we're still by far the number 1 county for dairy animals," stated Jay Irwin, Lancaster County extension agent. "We're way ahead of Bradford, Franklin, and Chester counties combined."

Lancaster's dairies have reduced cow numbers by 12,000 for a total of 102,000 animals, or 14 percent of the state's cows. Bradford, the number-two county in dairy cows, has 42,000 cows; Franklin comes next with 41,000 animals, with Chester County owning 27,000 cows. The value of production per cow in the county, however, has increased by approximately $80.

"The biggest change in the total county figures is the decline in the poultry industry," declared Irwin. "And our biggest concern is the decline in egg prices. There was a $26-million decline in the value of egg production (for Lancaster

Savage-Leigh RORAE Chrissy Named Miss Maryland Futurity

BY SUE CROW
Maryland Correspondent

TIMONIUM, MD — The lights were dimmed. The spotlight was focused on the center of the show ring at the cow palace of the Maryland State Fair. Dave Brauning, dressed in tuxedo, announced the fourth runner up, then the third, the second, the first. Finally he said, "Here she is, the 1988 Miss Maryland Futurity." Those were the last words that young Christopher Savage heard as his three-year-old cow took the spotlight for her victory walk around the showring.

Savage-Leigh RORAE Chrissy was the 'cream of the crop' from the 21 other three-year-olds shown Sunday night at Maryland's Fifth Annual Holstein Futurity. In 1985 the selection process began when calves were nominated throughout the state based on their pedigree and hope that they, too, would end up in the winner's circle. Owners entered them again as yearlings and again as two-year-olds. From the list of 395 entered, only 21 made the final selection, by their owners, to enter the contest.

A 14-point hitch with Belgian Draft horses brought out the regal court of Dairy Princesses and The Farm Bureau Queen. Ringmen John Morris and Marion Andrew accompanied Judge Richard Keene, from New York, to ringside. From there Keene worked the

Morris Is Guest Of Honor

Shrine Names Honorees To Receive Awards At All American Sept. 26-30

John Morris, longtime Maryland Extension Dairy Specialist, will be recognized as Guest of Honor at the annual Dairy Shrine Banquet during the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show on September 28 in Harrisburg, Pa. It is the organization's highest honor.

Although Morris has numerous professional affiliations and accomplishments, he is best known for his contributions to the Maryland 4-H dairy program while Extension Specialist from 1950 to 1977. During those 27 years, Morris helped thousands of youth to build goals, dreams and a desire to make life better.

Under his leadership, enrollment in the 4-H Dairy project rose to the highest in 15 years despite shrinking numbers of farm families. Programs he created included the "Dairy Bowl" which motivates youth to learn about the dairy industry and the crowd-pleasing "Pretty Cow" contest in which youngsters dress up themselves and their cattle. He also organized the Maryland Mid-Atlantic 4-H & FFA Dairy Conference which drew youths from six states to learn about dairy product marketing.

Morris' creative programming often reached out to the community. His "Dairy Adventure" allowed disadvantaged and minority youth from urban areas to learn about dairying through farm visits and other educational activities. Innovative dairy goat and dairy steer projects enabled youth who did not live on dairy farms to become Acres Corn Update: Corn futures closed mostly lower with the September option losing 1-3/4 cents while the September '89 gained 1/4 cent Losses today were linked to profit taking in the absence of fresh buying interest. Further sales of 300,000 MT of corn failed to generate new buying as concerns over increased country movement weighed on prices. Global Weather Services, in its latest crop production estimate, forecasted a further drop of 300 million bushels to the U.S. crop. Generic certificate bids weakened further today with bids now ranging from 99% to 100-1/4%.

Acres Soybean Update: Soybean futures closed mixed with the nearbys lower from 1/4 to 5-1/2 cents while the deferreds gained up to 5 cents. Late session strength was tied to spillover from the wheat pits with November touching a high of $9 05. The absence of aggressive buying today was tied to optimism over the quality on the unharvested portion of the crop. Global Weather Services in their latest crop production update predicted a further decrease of 100 million bushels, or a total of 1.438 billion as of September 1st. Some profit taking was seen today.

Acres Wheat Update: Wheat futures closed higher, but off session highs with settlements ranging from 1/2 to 2-1/2 cents higher. Today's strength was tied to a firm export outlook and strong technical factors. March set a new contract high of $4.34 while December touched its previous high of $4 31, but failed to trade higher on strong resistance. This factor set off selling into the close seen as profit taking The Global Weather Services forecast issued today pegged 1988 wheat production at just under 1.8 billion bushels, with the USSR total grain production coming in at 203 MMT.

Acres Cattle Update: Live cattle and feeders closed higher today recovering from oversold conditions with the spot live cattle gaining 120 points while feeders gained 58 points. A late short covering rally was attributed to the spot options ability to hold technical trend line support in addition to rumors that one large U.S. packer had contracted to import beef to Japan. Spillover strength from the live cattle pushed the feeders higher throughout the session.

CME FEEDER CATTLE SETTLEMENT PRICE: 9/05/88- $81.74 dn $ .15

Acres Hog Update: Live hog futures settled higher with buying linked to oversold conditions after recent sharp declines. Bellies closed sharply higher on a late short covering rally tied to spillover from the other pits. Ideas that marketings would soon decrease added momentum to the buying along with rumors that packers were increasing inventory for a weekend kill The October stopped at its contract low of $37.50 and closed out the session 80 points higher at $38 35

Northeast Chicken Parts

September 7, 1988

Trading activity was mixed and selective. Cutlets were irregularly available as a lack of labor affected production at some points; however, the bulk of sales were at unchanged to lower price levels. Whole breasts were ample for immediate needs and buyers were slow in clearing the market. Legs were in good balance at some points, trading at lower levels at others. Leg quarters were at least fully adequate. Wings were in good overall balance. Giblets were no more than adequate with livers generally in short supply.

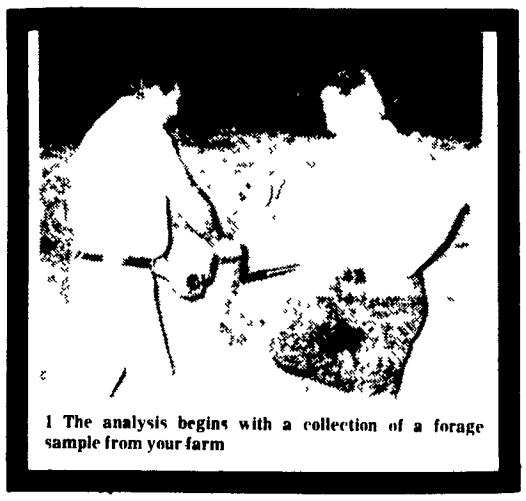
"NO CHARGE" FORAGE TESTING

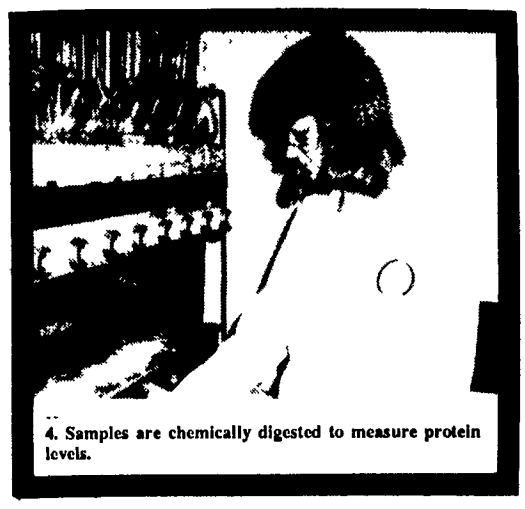
ACCURATE FORAGE TESTING GIVES YOU A MORE RELIABLE DAIRY FEEDING PROGRAM



1 The analysis begins with a collection of a forage sample from your farm

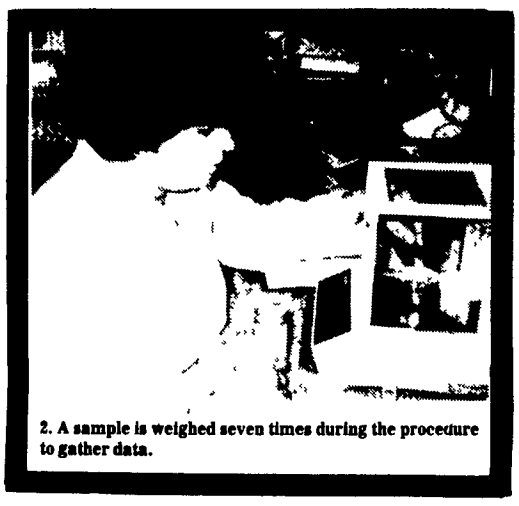
Not all testing is the same. The accuracy of your results depends on the thoroughness and professionalism of the people performing the analysis, and the precision of the testing equipment used.

In our Technical Services Laboratory, located in Lancaster, we perform more than 5,000 forage analyses a year for farms like yours, in Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Jersey and Delaware. This service enables you to learn the exact nutrient values of your homegrown forages so that we can work with you to develop your best feeding program.



4. Samples are chemically digested to measure protein levels.

—PENNFIELD DAIRY PROGRAM PLUSES:—



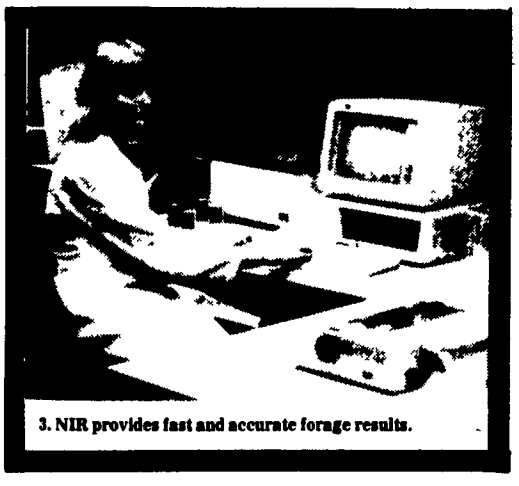
2. A sample is weighed seven times during the procedure to gather data.

+ "NO CHARGE" - CERTIFIED FORAGE TESTING LAB. Pennfield's Forage Testing Lab is certified by the NAHTA (National Alfalfa Hay Testing Assoc.)

+ Professionally formulated dairy feeding programs.

+ Order dept. open 24 hours per day Monday 5 AM through Saturday 5 AM. Answering service on weekends.

5. Acid detergent fiber is another important indication of nutrient content.

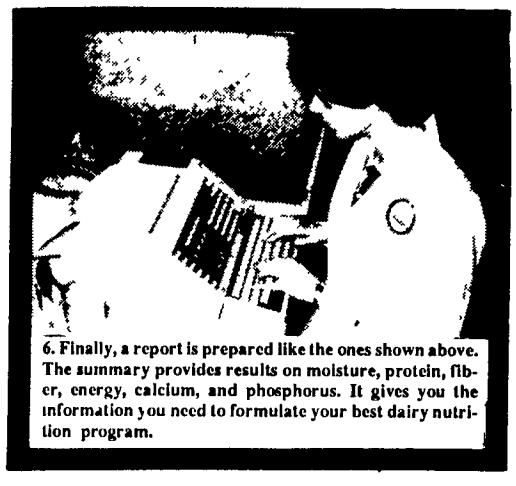


3. NIR provides fast and accurate forage results.

+ Grain exchange program for Corn - Barley - Oats

+ Dairy Terms: 2½% Cash Discount - due 15th of following month.

+ Well trained "Dairy Service Specialists" who can work with you to help solve problems when they occur.



6. Finally, a report is prepared like the ones shown above. The summary provides results on moisture, protein, fiber, energy, calcium, and phosphorus. It gives you the information you need to formulate your best dairy nutrition program.

Take Your Seat, The Performance Is About To Begin.

You'll applaud the performance of Funk's G-Hybrids like G-4543, G-4626 and G-4446 when the curtain falls at harvest time.

A top choice for shelled grain or ear corn in 110 to 120-day maturity areas, G-4543 produces maximum yields even at lower populations. In Delaware hybrid field corn trials, it topped the field with 148.4 bu./A.

G-4626 has it all in a 115 to 120-day maturity hybrid—fast dry-down, outstanding stay-green, superior standability, excellent plant health and exceptional yields. In Delaware trials, G-4626 produced yields up to 200.9 bu./A.

G-4446 delivers superior late season standability, excellent grain quality and high test weights. A multi-purpose, widely adapted hybrid, G-4446 produced a state record 252.4 bu./A. in the 1986 Pa. Five-Acre Corn Club competition.

OPINION

Take Time To Be Safe

On a cold January morning a 29-year-old east coast dairy farmer uncapped a concrete stave silo to feed silage to his cattle. As usual, the uncapping created lots of dust inside the silo. Later that afternoon this farmer felt like he had the flu, only worse. And by evening he went to the emergency room and was hospitalized and diagnosed as having organic dust toxic syndrome.

This true case history along with thousands of others like it contradict the popular conception that farmers are some of our healthiest workers. While farming is seen romantically as a clean, healthy, happy way of life, the facts show that on-the-farm accidents are killing and maiming hunderds of thousands of farmers annually across the nation. And now a whole new array of health hazards lurk in moldy corn bins, dusty hog houses, newly filled silos, liquid manure pits and chemical applicating jobs of all kinds. With nearly 200,000 injuries and 2,000 deaths per year, agriculture (several years ago) passed mining as the most dangerous occupation in the United States.

And the fall harvest season with its pressure to get the crops in the barns before bad weather sets the stage for a serious accident. When you're tired or in a hurry, accidents are more likely to happen. Ron Jester, University of Delaware Extension safety specialist says it's natural to take pride in one's ability to work long hours in pursuit of a goal. However, fatigue, drowsiness and illness frequently contribute to mishaps in the field. Add dust and noise to the hurry and fatigue, plus possible bad weather and equipment that's not harvest-ready, and it's not surprising that farmers sometimes make mistakes or fail to respond quickly enough in an emergency.

Here are some timely suggestions from Jester that can help you avoid a serious accident this fall.

* Be sure all safety guards and shields are in place.

* Always place blocks or stands under the combine header before doing any work underneath it.

* Be certain the combine has stopped all rotation before making visual or hand inspections.

* Be sure members of your family, as well as co-workers, have a reasonable understanding of the basic operation of the equipment in case an accident does happen. Sometimes an injury is made more severe because machinery wasn't turned off properly or was moved in the wrong direction.

Also know what you would do if you are first on the scene of a serious farm accident. Know how to raise or lower the hydraulic cylinder, turn off the engine or the PTO. Know how to set the brakes and stop the unloading augers. Accidednts can be prevented. The safety practices you follow in advance will allow you to reap benefits not only during harvest but throughout life. Be careful!

NOW IS THE TIME

To Check Stored Grain

Farmers should check all their stored grain at this time of year because heating of stored grain can be a symptom of insect activity or just too much moisture. In either case, the heating problem should be corrected before the grain is ruined. If grain requires pest control materials (as listed on page 66 of the 1987-88 Agronomy Guide), it should be done while the air temperature is still fairly high or above 60 degrees F. If it's moisture, then check for possible leaks in the roof. We have too much money invested in the seed, fertilizer and labor to lose it in storage.

To Protect Show Animals

September, in Lancaster County, is Fair time. It is also a time to be concerned about the health of show animals. Fairs should be a place where we can exhibit our animals; they should not be a place for spreading disease and other ailments. Be considerate of other exhibitors and of other show animals. If your animals have an infection or contagious problems, leave them at home; it's like keeping a sick child out of school to protect those who are healthy. If you do show, consult your veterinarian about necessary tests and protective vaccines.

When you return your livestock to the farm after the show, isolate them from other animals on the farm before introducing them to their herdmates.

To Check Feed Bins

We are coming into the fall season where we see considerable temperature change from day to night. This causes a lot of moisture condensation, as we see it on car windows in the morning. This same type of condensation takes place in the bulk feed bins on our farms. It causes the build-up of molds on the bins and in the feed.

When feed bins are cleaned out, they should be inspected thoroughly, right down to the boot. Also, when you are taking feed out of the bin, keep a close watch for chunks of feed; it will tell you if a problem is developing.

After cleaning out the bin, it should be sprayed with a mold inhibitor and allowed to dry. You can use calcium proprionate solution as the inhibitor, at the rate of 21 ounces per gallon of water for the spray. One of the best ways to prevent this condensation problem is to insulate the bin. The insulation will slow down the temperature fluxuation.

To Stop Feeding Trees and Shrubs

The time is here when we should not be applying any fertilizer to rose bushes, trees and shrubs. The season's growing period is about over and new growth should have a chance to harden before cold weather arrives. When we fertilize during the fall we encourage new growth, which will be tender, and will winter-kill in zero weather.

It is best to wait until early spring to apply any plant food to these types of plants. Mulching is a good practice to help conserve moisture and control weeds, but keep the fertilizer in the bag until the 1989 season.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

WITH FRIENDS LIKE THESE...

September 11, 1988

Background Scripture: Job 2:11-13; 4:1-9; 11; 13:1-12.

Devotional Reading: Proverbs 18:24 through 19:7.

You know how the old saying goes: "With friends like these, who needs enemies?" That must be the way Job felt about his friends, Eliphaz, Bildad, and Zophar, when they came "to condole with him and comfort him" (Job 2:11). That was their intention, but it was hardly the effect they had upon Job. When all three had finished giving him their advice, he responded with unmistakable anger, calling their counsel "lies," themselves "worthless physicians," and demanding that they "keep silent."

THEY "MEANT WELL"

Don't you think Job was a bit harsh with his friends? After all, they did come to see him in his time of suffering. They came with the best of intentions: to "condole with him" and what they said to Job represented the very most current religious thinking of the day. It was assumed that prosperity was a sign of God's favor, while adversity was a consequence of God's displeasure. just about everybody believed that in Job's time-- and for many centuries before and after.

Let's see what his three friends said to him. Eliphaz simply stated the popular belief that suffering is the punishment for sin: "As I have seen, those who plow iniquity and sow trouble reap the same" (4:8). Bildad advised Job to pray because God answers the prayers of the upright: "If you are pure and upright, surely then he will rouse himself for you..." (8:6). Zophar attempts to console Job with the observation that he is really suffering less than he deserves: "Know then that God exacts of you less than your guilt deserves" (11:6b).

Note that all three of Job's friends, although their advice is different, share one thing in common: each is certain that Job's suffering must be attributable to his sins. So, these three friends came with the best of intentions and armed with the best religious thinking of the day, but they turned out to be the kind of friends Job didn't need.

BITTER THINGS

Actually, Job's well-meaning but harmful friends are still with us today. Smug in their human understanding of the complexities of life, they hand out their simplistic platitudes to all whom they find in need. "Everything will work out all right," they assure us -- and it doesn't! "It is God's will for you to do this," they advise us. "God is punishing you," they warn us. "just turn it over to God and your troubles will be gone," we are promised. And they are utterly sincere in what they tell us.

But it is their arrogance -- for that's what it is when we profess to know so completely the mind of God -- that makes them, not only painful friends, but also dangerous sinners in the eyes of God.

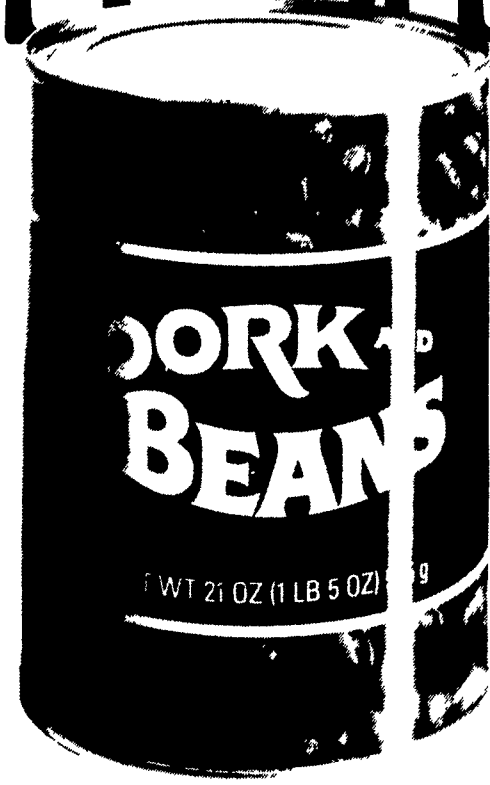
These are about the only beans you'll find on more farms than Pioneer®

BRAND SOYBEANS



It seems once growers get a taste of how Pioneer® brand soybeans perform, they come back for more.

Truth is, Pioneer soybeans are fast becoming the performance leaders. Which is why you'll find Pioneer beans in more and more fields on more and more farms each year.

With Pioneer soybeans, you can count on better yields, plus excellent disease and pest tolerance. Fact is, Pioneer beans are some of the best performing, best yielding varieties you can find.

So this year, go with Pioneer soybeans. The way they perform, everything else is just a has bean.

9272-NEW Here's a new, attractive medium-late Group II variety with good agronomic traits. Its high yield potential and strong healthy canopy make it a very dependable variety. 9272 has very good field tolerance to Phytophthora Root Rot and emerges fast with strong standability.

9361 You'll be looking at an impressive new soybean variety with this excellent mid-Group III variety. 9361 also offers high yield potential, strong emergence and early vigor. Good tolerance to Phytophthora Root Rot is another desirable feature of 9361. Because of its smaller seed size each unit goes a little farther at planting.

9391 As a new late Group III variety, 9391 is the yield leader. It has a wide area of adaptation and performs well under many growing conditions. 9391 gets out of the ground quickly, has good standability, and is resistant to Races 1-3 and 6-11 of Phytophthora Root Rot. It also has good field tolerance to other prevalent races.

9442 You're looking at the new yield leader among mid-Group IV soybean varieties. 9442 is a variety with strong emergence, excellent standability, and good field tolerance to Phytophthora Root Rot. It produces moderately branching plants that perform well in both wide or narrow rows. Put your orders in early for this top variety. Supply will go fast.

Schoen, Colwell Elected To Eastern Milk's Board

SYRACUSE, NY — Edwin Schoen of Phelps, N.Y., and Merle W. Colwell of Windsor, N.Y., have been elected to the board of directors of Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative in special district elections.

Schoen represents about 250 farmers in parts of the Finger Lakes region and Central New York. He succeeds Charles Freligh of Cayuga, N.Y., who died in a farm accident.

A member of Eastern since 1970, Schoen began farming in 1965 after getting an associate's degree from Cornell. In 1982 he became partners with John Stephen, also of Phelps, and since then the farm has grown from 76 to 400 acres. They milk 85 Holsteins.

Schoen and his wife, Jean, have three daughters. They also are active in another business, Schoen-Wyffels Homes Inc.; which markets log homes. Prior to his election to the board, Schoen was active in Eastern's Rose City Local, serving as secretary-treasurer for four years and as president for six.

Colwell represents 200 farmers in a district stretching through northeastern Pennsylvania and into New York. Colwell succeeds Earl Forwood of Hop Bottom, Pa., who resigned.

Colwell started farming in 1946 and became a member of Eastern in 1953. He has been active in Eastern's Blue Ridge Local for a number of years, serving terms as president, delegate and secretary/treasurer. Colwell and his wife, Gertrude Jean, have five daughters and a son. They milk 60 cows out of a herd of 104 Holsteins on their 214-acre farm.

Headquartered in Syracuse, N.Y., Eastern Milk Producers is a dairy cooperative with over 3,000 member-owners in nine states.

Kutztown Fair Swine and Da

KUTZTOWN (Berks) — The Kutztown Fair moved to September from its mid-August date of previous years and with that move some noticeable changes took place.

What was formerlly one of the biggest dairy shows of the fair season dropped drastically in its number of entries due to its new time slot. Parents refused to let children compete on the same day schol started or in some cases the evening before school started. If the decision was made by fair officials to change the number of people at the fair, one look at the number of dairy and swine competitors will show the numbers did change by decreasing.

Show judge Jim Wright, formerlly the herdsman with Hilltop Hanover, complimented the entries on their outstanding quality and said he felt the champions could handle tougher competition as the contenders advance through district and state shows. The Holstein show and the color breed shows were combined and held Tuesday evening.

The swine carcass and breeding swine shows were held Tuesday. Ron Miller, manager of Wye Farms of Berks County was the swine judge. Miller is also a graduate of Penn State University where he was a member of the livestock and meat judging teams.

In the lightweight carcass class Val Hunter took first, Christina Hunter, second and in third place was Greg Strickler. First place in the middleweight class was Leon

Champion hog of the Kutztown Fair carcass competition was a heavyweight Hampshire owned and exhibited by Todd Rabenold of Kutztown.

Heidi Schlegel's sharp, classy 2-year-old took the Kutztown Fair Guernsey grand championship title home. Her brother, Kevin Schlegel exhibited the reserve grand champion.

THE DROUGHT AND FOOD PRICES

H. Louis Moore, Agricultural Economist The Pennsylvania State University

It is always hazardous to assess drought damage prior to completion of harvest. The difficulties of making an assessment this year are compounded by the unusually early occurrence of the drought. In past years, droughts came in mid to late summer. This year the dry conditions became evident in many areas in April and May and were relentless until July 18th. Time will tell whether the back of the drought was broken by the mid-July rains or whether August will be a continuation of the earlier dry weather.

Unlike past years when there were pockets of droughts, this year has been one where drought is fairly general and there are only pockets where the weather has been normal. Major droughts typically lead to an acceleration in the rate of food price increases. Consumers know this from past experience and ask, "How much will food prices rise in 1988 as a result of drought and should I begin to stockpile some items which are likely to become very expensive?".

Food prices, even before the drought began, were projected to rise 3 to 5 percent in 1988 after rising 4.1 percent in 1987 and 3.2 percent in 1986. Food prices rose in 1986 and 1987 despite declines in the farm price of food items. The past increases in food prices represent things that happen to food items beyond the farm gate. The costs of processing, storage, transportation and retailing have a greater effect on food prices than what happens on the farm. These costs after the item leaves the farm represent about 70 percent of the food dollar spent at the supermarket. So the 4.1 percent rise in food prices in 1987 resulted from increased costs of labor, food packaging, advertising and the desire of the food industry to improve profits. It was expected that these costs would continue to rise in 1988, which led to the projection that food prices would rise 3 to 5 percent in 1988.

How much more will food prices increase as a result of drought? The current expectation is that on average prices will rise 1 to 2 percent as a result of drought. Why so little? A major factor that dampens a surge in food prices is the comparatively minor share of retail food expenditures that is represented in the farm value of food items. Since the marketing system accounts for about 70 cents of every dollar consumers spend for food, the farmer gets only 30 percent. The farm value has steadily fallen from about 37 percent in 1980 to 30 percent currently.

Consumers will see the biggest price increases in fresh fruits and vegetables which are grown locally if the area is suffering extensively from drought. Very highly processed items should show very small increases. Cereal and bakery items, for example, are highly processed and the farmers share of each dollar consumers spend for the items is just 9 percent. Therefore, if these items normally have 5 to 10 cents of flour in them and flour prices increase 40 percent the cost would go up by about 4 cents. But flour prices shouldn't increase 40 percent because we have harvested an excellent wheat crop and there are adequate supplies of wheat in storage from previous years.

But a consumer says, "That makes economic sense but our local supermarket has already increased the price of bread by 8 cents a loaf because of the drought." As an economist I would have to answer, "The drought created an excuse for that price increase but not an economic reason."

Ag Awareness Day

FLEMINGTON, NJ — Ag Awareness Day spotlights two farms in southern Hunterdon County.

Again, the Hunterdon County Board of Agriculture and Rutgers Cooperative Extension will sponsor Ag Awareness Day in southern Hunterdon County. On Saturday, September 10, from noon until 5:00 p.m., rain or shine, two farms will open their gates to show off the diversity and viability of Hunterdon County agriculture.

WoodsEdge Wools, owned by Fred and Linda Berry Walker will have walking tours, exhibits and displays, and sheep, llamas and guard dogs to see. Their farm is located on Bowne Station Road.

Whistle Stop Farm and Nursery on John Ringoes Road in Ringoes is owned by Greg and Dena Scibilia. They will have walking tours, hay rides, washing and packing line demonstrations and irrigation demonstrations. Their farm is adjacent to the Black River and Western Railroad.

"The tours are free and we encourage friends and neighbors to visit these nearby farms," says Susan Blew, Pittstown farmer and chair of the Ag Awareness Day Committee. She adds, "see what different kinds of farming are successful and non-traditional in Hunterdon County.

Jersey Juniors Receive National Recognition

COLUMBUS, OH — The top 10 winners of the 1987 National Jersey Youth Achievement Contest, sponsored by The American Jersey Cattle Club, have been announced. For the past 30 years, this award has recognized youth who excel in managing and breeding their Jerseys, actively participate in breed functions, and show exceptional leadership skills.

To be eligible for the contest, juniors must own one or more registered Jerseys and be at least nine but not older than 19 years of age. Juniors are nominated by their state Jersey organization. Those juniors who placed second through tenth in the previous years and who are still eligible by age may also be entered.

The top 10 winners will be presented with cash awards totalling $2,000 at the Junior Banquet and Fun Fest held during the All American Jersey Show in Louisville, Ky., on November 4.

Herby D. Lutz, Chester, S.C., is the first place winner of this year's contest. He will be the recipient of a $500 cash award and a commemorative plaque. The son of Herbert and Betty Lutz, he finished second in last year's contest.

Five years ago, he started his Jersey herd with the purchase of three Jersey heifers. Since this time, his herd has grown in both numbers and production. He now owns 33 milking cows and 27 heifers.

For the past two years, the Sunny Day herd has ranked tenth in the nation for both milk and fat among DHIR herds of 30 to 49 cows. The 1987 DHIR herd averages were 15,791 lbs. milk and 741 lbs. fat. With an average Cow Index of +$46, the herd ranks ninth nationally.

For the past four years, Lutz has been a buyer at the National Pot O'Gold Sale. His 1986 purchase, Greenwood Chief Glad Tidings, ranks 107 on the current USDA High Cow Performance Index at List +266.

To develop his top ranking herd, Lutz, age 18, has had to put his management skills to work. He uses the "DART" system through the Dairy Records Processing Center at Raleigh to help keep herd records. He mates all of his cattle using artificial insemination for which he attended training sessions. With the help of Dr. Boyd Parr, winner of this same contest in 1971, Herby D. has learned how to balance feed rations on the computer.

His Jersey activities have included serving as president of the South Carolina Junior Jersey Cattle Club for the past two years and on the 1988 All American Junior Show Committee. He also enjoys exhibiting his Jerseys at the local, state and national levels.

Lutz recently started attending Clemson University majoring in dairy science. After college, he plans to return to the herd. "I have several goals I want to obtain. I want to breed a contract cow and breed a cow that wins her class at the All American," comments Lutz.

Other top ten winners include: 2. John Thurston, Delaware, Ohio; 3. Alan O. Chittenden, Schodack Landing, N.Y.; 4. David J. Rowbotham, Walworth, Wisc.; 5. Dona M. Casale, Denair, Calif.; 6. David J. Mason, Buhl, Idaho; 7. Glenda J. Kirchdoerfer, Cape Girardeau, Missouri; 8. Andy Paulson, Andover, S.D.; 9. Dwain A. Corley, Tuttle, Okla.; 10. Frances P. Smidt, Rice Lake, Wisc.

children, James 18; Dean 15; Betsy 15 and Brandan 8. The Wagners milk 125 cows and have about the same number of young stock. They farm 340 acres. Rodger gave credit to his family and God for their success. Michael O'Pake, state senator, read a proclamation from the legislative body to honor the Wagner family.

In addition, each year an outstanding 4-H boy and girl and an outstanding FFA boy and girl are recognized. Steven Rohrbach, Virginville 4-H club and Sheila Newhard, Leesport 4-H club were the 4-H'ers honored. Steven has had major projects in dairy and swine and Sheila excels in clothing, foods and public speaking.

Troy Seidel from the Kutztown FFA chapter was the outstanding boy. Troy has projects in beef breeding and finishing and corn. Becky Sonnen, the state dairy princess was named the outstanding FFA girl. Becky started the new semester at PSU and could not be present.

Boyd Wolff, PA state ag secretary, brought greetings from the department and said his summer has been occupied with the state budget and the drought. He said the budget process has gone unusually slow this summer. "Governor Casey has certain priorities he wants to get resolved with the budget process," Wolff said. "I want to say the Governor does support funding for your fairs and it is in the supplemental appropriations. I hope by the end of this month the money for the fair fund will be forthcoming.

Wolff said the 1988 summer drought was the most severe drought since 1930. In July, Governor Casey sent Wolff to Washington to meet with USDA officials to explain Pennsylvania drought situation and to get the Commonwealth recognized as a drought disaster area. Drought relief has since been legislated and details of the program will be handled by the local ASCS offices.

The drought situation is not over especially in western Pennsylvania where wells still go dry and rainfall is eight inches below normal. But with the grain carryover and the estimates of this year's crop, Wolff said we should have enough feed grains for domestic and export use.

As for consumers, Wolff said the effect of the drought should have little effect on inflation because food is such a small part of the price index. He appealed to the food industry to have no excedssive price increases that are blamed on the drought.

FARM MANAGEMENT

By John Defassio

What Good Farm Records Can Do

Last month in my article I discussed the decision making process and introduced a useful tool called FINPACK. But just as a combine can not operate without a head, FINPACK can't work without Farm Records.

Farm Records are as important as any tool to farm management Let's look at what a good farm record system can do. A farm record system is used to report, diagnose and plan. In addition the system should be easy to maintain and provide useful information in a timely manor.

SAVE $10,000!!!

I assume that every farmer keeps some form of farm records. After all the federal government requires that a farmer keep the information needed to figure income, deductions, credits, and financial reports. If a farmer fails to keep adequate records, he is subject to a fine not to exceed $10,000.00. The federal government encourages you to keep records.

HELP ESTABLISH CREDIT!!!

Any farmer having an outstanding loan or attempting to borrow additional funds must provide the lender with some form of report. Farm records enables the lender to determine how much risk a farm operation can handle. The lender also needs to know the repayment ability of a farm operation. Many lenders are now requiring a regular monthly report to monitor the loan and the farm business. Due to this type of reporting the farm records must be completed on a timely basis.

There are a variety of financial arrangements which may require accurate reports, such as: profit sharing arrangements, share cropping, employee incentive plans, lease arrangements, partnerships, corporations and the list continues. Accurate reports can be very helpful in settling estates and participating in government programs.

IDENTIFY STRENGTHS AND WEAKNESSES!!!

These same farm records can be a useful diagnostic tool. From these records a farmer can pin point problems and identify opportunities which can lead to more profit. In order to diagnose an operation, comparisons are drawn from previous year's performances to budgets and goals.

HELP PLAN FOR THE FUTURE!!!

Coupled with budgeting practices, the farm records provide a basis to build models of what your farm operation could be. Budgeting allows the farmer to see on paper the results of various alternatives. Although budgeting is not the answer to all farm management problems, it can certainly save a great deal of time and money by avoiding false starts.

Reasonable budgets can not be formulated without detailed farm records. The planning done with historical data is done with caution. Predicting the future is not possible even with the best of records. But, information about an operation's past performance is necessary to describe the unique situation of that operation. Inferences about production costs and yields can be drawn from historical data that will most likely occur. Using this data with other available data can give a good idea about what may happen in the future, but, there are never any guaranties.

If our only concern wre to satisfy the government, a very simple system would be all that is needed. But as we demand more productivity from our farm, we must increase the amount of data gathered. When more data is handled, controls must be added to the system to insure its accuracy. As the demand for accurate information increases, the complexity of the record keeping system increases. There are many simple systems which can provide the information needed but may lack controls for accuracy.

YOU CAN KEEP GOOD FARM RECORDS!!!

Farmers can choose from a number of record keeping alternatives or choose to create their own. Record books are offered by cooperative extension offices, banks and production credit associations. A wide variety of printed farm record keeping forms are commercially available from stationery and office supply firms. In addition, many service firms offer record keeping in addition to other services such as tax preparation and financial statement preparation.

The farmer must be able to use the farm records in making business decisions. Any one can gather and record the necessary information, but the data must contain accurate and detailed information in order to properly classify that information. A farmer should work closely with the record keeper in order to assure the accuracy of the final data.

Farm record systems may vary with the goals of the farm operator, but all good systems must take into account depreciation, liabilities, farm inventories and cash receipts and expenditures. In order to select or create a good farm record system the operator must apply individual goals and understand farm management information needs. For more information about good records contact your county extension office.

involved in dairy projects.

Enlisting adult volunteer leaders to train youngsters, Morris developed a nearly unbeatable 4-H dairy judging program in his home state. Half of the 26 judging teams Morris coached won the national contest and six won in international competition at the Royal Agricultural Show in Great Britain. The judging program became self-perpetuating as champion 4-H judges Morris trained grew up to be volunteer leaders.

In addition to his 4-H leadership, Morris has judged local, state and national dairy shows in all breeds and was an official classifier for both Jerseys and Brown Swiss. This year, he is official judge for Ayrshires at the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show, the same assignment he had at the first Pennsylvania All-American 25 years ago.

During his career, Morris has received many honors, including the first Maryland 4-H Distinguished Service Award, the National 4-H Service Award, the National FFA Honorary American Farmer Degree and the State 4-H Alumni Award. He has been honored by several organizations, including the Maryland Dairy Shrine, Maryland Holstein Association and National Association of Extension 4-H Agents and has been named to the Maryland 4-H Hall of Fame.

John Morris

Prior to joining the University of Maryland, Morris served in the U.S. Army and spent four years as a fieldman for the Holstein-Friesian Association. He is a graduate of Iowa State University (B.S.) and University of Delaware (M.S.). Since his retirement from Extension work, Morris has been secretary-treasurer of the Maryland Holstein-Friesian Association.

Morris and his wife, Martha, reside in Frederick, Maryland. They have four sons.

Elis Knutson

Dorothy Schnering

Lew Campbell

Dairy Shrine To Honor Three Pioneers

Dairy Shrine will honor three dairy industry pioneers posthumously at the organization's annual banquet during the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show on September 28, in Harrisburg, Pa. The three pioneers are W. Lewis "Lew" Campbell, Elis Knutson and Dorothy Schnering.

Lew Campbell (1915-1983) spent 32 years managing A.I. cooperatives and during that time, was a driving force in developing cow indexes and better methods of processing and packaging semen. After serving in World War II, Campbell was an Extension Dairy Specialist in West Virginia, and heavily promoted A.I. to dairymen there. He helped organize the West Virginia Artificial Breeding Co-op and managed the organization from 1948 to 1957. He was instrumental in forming partnerships with other A.I. cooperatives in order to improve service to farmers. These partnerships eventually resulted in formation of Sire Power, which Campbell managed from 1970 to 1980. Campbell was president of the National Association of Animal Breeders and secretary of the Maryland PDCA.

Elis Knutson (1910-1983) was known as a great Holstein cowman, breeder, showman and judge. With his brother, he operated Pabst-Knutson farm in Oconomowoc, Wisconsin, for 22 years and later managed Holstein herds at Chambric Farm, Rockford, Illinois and Nehls Farm, Juneau, Wisconsin. Over his career, Knutson showed more than 70 Holstein All-Americans and Reserve All-Americans, and he earned the Klussendorf Trophy in 1957. He was a sought-after consultant and judge, both nationally and internationally. Knutson passed along his dairy knowledge to more than 30 young Japanese who worked on farms he managed. These efforts were instrumental in building the market for U.S. Holsteins in Japan.

As president and, later, board chairman of Curtiss Breeding Service of Cary, Illinois, Dorothy Schnering (1893-1973) contributed greatly to dairy cattle improvement. Schnering took over management of Curtiss after the death of her husband, Otto, founder of the A.I. firm and also a Dairy Shrine Pioneer. She built Curtiss into an A.I. leader, insisting on high pedigree standards and paying then-unheard-of prices of up to $50,000 for top-notch proven bulls. Today, 20 years after Schnering's retirement, many standout cattle in all four breeds trace back to Curtiss sires. Her influence in helping people develop to their full potential is apparent in large numbers of her former employees who are now dairy industry leaders.

Keller Wins Shrine Student Award

Shelly Keller, a 1988 agricultural journalism graduate from the University of Wisconsin-Madison, has been named winner of Dairy Shrine's 1988 Student Recognition Program. The program is designed to recognize dairy science students who, upon graduation, plan to work closely with dairy cattle. In its 20th year, there were 24 contestants from the same number of universities and colleges. All received lifetime memberships in Dairy Shrine.

Shelly Keller

For her first-place honor, Keller will receive a $1,000 cash award September 28 at the Dairy Shrine annual awards banquet held during the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show in Harrisburg, Pa.

Placing second through fifth in the contest were: Kevin Kulzer, University of Minnesota; Jonathan Merriam, California Polytechnic State University; Douglas McCullough, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University; and Francis Costello, Iowa State University. They will receive cash awards of $500, $400, $300 and $200 respectively.

Valiant Daughter Brings Top Bid

BY BETSY YODER
Huntingdon Co. Correspondent

A welcome relief of cooler temperatures and gentle breezes greeted dairy folk at the Mifflin County Summer Classic Sale. The event was sponsored by the county Holstein Club and the Pennsylvania Holstein Association.

Garnering the top bid of the evening was Blessed-Acres Valiant Lilly; consigned by G. Sheldon Peachey of Belleville. Lilly is a 4 year old daughter of the famed S-W-D Valiant bull. She has records to 21,898 of milk and 739 of fat and is scored very good 86. The dam is a Elevation Pete daughter with records to 20,304 of milk and 689 fat. She is also very good at 85. Lilly was sold with a contract to Eastern A.I. Coop. Kore Peachey, Milroy, bought this outstanding young cow for $3550.

Another Valiant daughter was the second high animal. Samuel Yoder paid $2400 for Per-Lo Valiant Jackie, a 3 year old. Her dam is scored 85 and has records to 20,934 of milk and 779 of fat. She was consigned by Percy S. Yoder.

Glickdale Ramses Nina was the third high cow. Edwin Glick consigned this just fresh 2 year old daughter of Robthom Ramseo. Her dam is scored very good 88 and has consistently tested 4.3 and above. James Yoder bought this promising young cow for $1625.

Persy Yoder also consigned the fourth high selling animal. Per-Lo Gold Betts a two year old daughter of Tri Day Valiant Gold sold for $1550. Her dam has records to 21,188 of milk and 904 of fat. Paul Yoder bought this young cow.

$1475 bought the fifth high animal for Milber Farm of Martinsburg. This stylish Board Chairman daughter was just fresh with her second calf. During her first lactation she produced 20,325 of milk and 687 fat. She was consigned by Kim Gromis.

David Spicher, sale chairman; Kore J. Peachey and Joshua D. Yoder are to be commended on a very good sale with many high quality animals. Forty-two averaged $1130. Oren Bender was in charge of pedigrees and Mark Glick was the auctioneer.

Scott Is Distinguished Dairy Cattle Breeder

The 1988 Dairy Shrine Distinguished Dairy Cattle Breeder Award is bestowed upon Hope Scott. She will receive the award at the organization's annual banquet during the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show on September 28 in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Scott is the owner of Ardrossan Farms, long recognized as one of the top-producing Ayrshire herds in the nation. Last year's herd average on 107 cows was 21,027 pounds of milk and 870 pounds of butterfat. Other 1987 production accomplishments include six 150,000-pound milk and 12 100,000-pound milk lifetime certificates 19 800-pound butterfat certificates and 39 20,000-pound milk certificates.

Scott's herd also received its 28th Constructive Breeder Award, three Maurice Benson Memorial Protein Awards and the French Trophy for herds over 100 cows. During the past 78 years, Ardrossan Farm has bred 124 cows that made over 100,000 pounds of milk and/or 4,000 pounds of butterfat. Seven Ardrossan Ayrshires produced lifetime totals over 200,000 pounds of milk and/or 8,000 pounds of butterfat.

This prestigious herd is known for more than the cows it has developed and sold. Over the years, 24 Ardrossan-bred sires have entered AI service. Currently four bulls carrying the Ardrossan prefix are plus-proven sires. The first bull raised at Ardrossan, Ardrossan Finalyston, was the second bull of the breed to be approved.

Hope Scott

Management has always been and continues to be a strong point in Ardrossan's success. For nearly 40 years Scott has managed this farm which was started by her father Colonel Robert L. Montgomery. Ardrossan was the first herd in the United States to be certified free of Bangs Disease and holds Pennsylvania bangs-free certificate #1. Today's herd health program includes a monthly reproduction check and a vaccination program as recommended by the University of Pennsylvania New Bolton Center, which Scott is closely associated with.

The Citation for Distinguished Service Award from the Ayrshire Breeders' Association was given to Scott in 1966. Twenty years later the Pennsylvania House of Representatives presented Scott with a citation for developing one of the top Ayrshire herds in the country and her active involvement in soil conservation.

Horses have also played a large part in Scott's life. Chairman of the board of the Devon Horse Show, she has been inducted into the National Horse Show Foundation Hall of Fame. She is also the only woman to judge the Madison Square Garden Horse Show.

Many positive comments have been made about this octogenarian by her comrades. Scott's herdsman for 12 years, Heinz Mielke said, "She is personally involved with registering, selecting animals which are to be kept or sold, and naming all of the animals. In the evening she spends hours studying pedigrees, going over farm records, etc."

Tom Whittaker, auctioneer and sale manager in Brandon, Vermont, said, "Few owners are as completely knowledgeable about the many details of their farming operation as Mrs. Scott and still fewer know their cows as well. She has an intuitive ability to instantly relate most any animal that is mentioned and point out the cow family of which it is a member."

The man who nominated Mrs. Scott for this honor was G.A. Bowling of Lewisburg, West Virginia. This former West Virginia, University professor, Purebred Dairy Cattle Association secretary and Strathglass Farm manager stated, "During the 60 years I have been associated with the purebred dairy cattle industry... I have known most of the long-time great herds of pedigreed dairy cattle, their owners and managers. Not one of them could compare with 78 years of Ardrossan Farms."

HARRISBURG — How often have you thought to yourself, "There has to be a better way to get this job finished?" Many farmers have designed and built their own better ways and are now eligible to earn some prize money for that great invention.

A Home Built and Handy Contest is being held this year in conjunction with the 25th anniversary of the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show in Harrisburg. The contest is open to all farmers living in Pennsylvania or a surrounding state. Any non-patented creation that makes a job better easier on the farm or around the home is eligible to be entered.

The only limit is size, because you'll have to bring your invention to the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg to be judged during the Dairy Show September 25-30.

Prize money totaling $1,000 will be awarded to the three best creators. First prize is $500 cash, second prize is $300 and third place nets $200. The contest is sponsored by the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show, Pennsylvania Farmer, Ohio Farmer and American Agriculturist.

Entry forms must be postmarked by September 15, so hurry and get yours in the mail! You can enter as many times as you wish, but a separate entry form must accompany each invention. Preentry is necessary to facilitate exhibit space.

Holstein and Color Breed Champions

BY SUE CROW
Maryland Correspondent

TIMONIUM, MD — The heifer division of the Maryland State Holstein Show was dominated by the OCS Dairy from Jefferson.

The Smith family placed first in three of the seven classes and second in another. Their Senior Yearling Heifer, Bayville Starbuck Start-et took home the junior champion trophy. Judge Richard Keene placed her on top for her sharpness and clean lines. The Junior Yearling owned by Steve and Chris Wood, Penn Gate Melrose Tinker, was the reserve junior champion.

My Ladys Manor Farm from Monkton took the honors from then on. Their seven-year-old Paclamar Bootmaker daughter won the grand champion trophy. Ladys Manor Charmster Star-et placed at the top of the Long Time Production class as well. She received best Maryland bred and owned trophy for her soundness and her exceptionally good set of legs. My Ladys Manor Farm went away with the Produce of Dam, Senior Best Three Females and the Exhibitors Herd of 5 Females trophies. The reserve grand champion went to the four-year-old cow owned by O. Clayton Smith and Marion Andrew, Brookstead Jessie.

The premier breeder banner went to Marlin and Kathy Hoff from New Windsor. The OSC Dairy took home the premier exhibitor banner. O. Clayton and Shirly Smith live in Jefferson.

The battle for the supreme champion between the grand champion winners in all six breeds of cattle came down to just three close placings. The Brown Swiss and Jersey just didn't quite have the power and strength that put the Holstein cow on top, said Keene. Ladys Manor Charmster Star-et owned by Ros, Robert and Harold Smith of My Ladys Manor Farm took home a replica of the Richard N. Wills Memorial Trophy.

A total of 225 animals were judged at this year's fair.

21st Century Genetics Releases Holly-Dell Sampling Sire

SHAWANO, Wi.— A Holstein bull calf, acquired from the Pinta Lane Nikki Syndicate, Narvon, has been released for sampling from 21st Century Genetics.

The nation's largest, direct-member, farmer-owned cattle breeding cooperative continued its steady growth with an impressive July sire summary including the number one bull in the industry, 21H1567 Arlinda Mellow.

The newest offspring from the full-service organization is 21H1639 Holly-Dell Neutron-ET, a son of Tri-Town Steady Spipper.

Combined with his maternal grandsire, 21st Century Genetics' own 21H280 I-O-State Chief Ford, Neutron has a Pedigree Index of +$102, +35F, +21P, +788M and a Genetic Index of +$157, +54F, +32P, +1197M.

Neutron's dam is O-Pinta-Lane Ford Nikki, EX-90. Her top record was as a three-year-old when she had 28,670 pounds of milk, 1,308 pounds of butterfat and a 4.6 percent butterfat test in 365 days. Her Cow Index is +$174, +54F, +32P, +1490M.

Neutron is a Ford grandson from a fine maternal line. His dam has over 23,000 pounds of milk in each of her first two lactations. Neutron's maternal granddam is Very Good-85 with two records over 1,000 pounds of butterfat. The next two dams are Very Good each with lifetime lactations over 100,000 pounds of milk.

Neutron is now housed at the Sampling Sire Facility of 21st Century Genetics at Stewartville, Mn.; one of 125 high genetic potential Holstein sires sampled each year. The cooperative's sampling program, recently boosted in numbers to be sampled annually, includes financial incentives for qualified users of sampling sire semen.

The 21st Century Genetics sampling program yielded five graduates for the July active line-up. This continues the waves of new graduates that have boosted the average Predicted Difference - Dollars (PD$) for 21st Century Genetics to +140.

Neutron and the other young sires will have to wait for about four years before their first USDA sire summary is published. Currently, only about one out of eight bulls sampled yield credentials high enough to make the active line-up housed in Shawano, Wi. and New Prague, Mn.

Reeds-Creek Bell Gidget

Farm Essentials.

Cows. Crops. And a Scavenger® spreader. The three essentials for higher productivity and a more successful farm operation.

Manure is money.
According to ag experts at the University of Missouri, the average dairy cow produces 70 pounds of manure every day—up to 13 tons a year. Worth about $5.00/ton, that equates to $65.00 per cow a year. If you own a 60-head herd that's almost $4,000 of free fertilizer. And in today's farm environment that adds up to big savings.

Scavenger—good to your crops, good to you.
To get the most from your manure you need a spreader to efficiently manage manure. A spreader that works with you. A spreader designed and built for today's farming. You need a Scavenger.

Scavenger loads quickly and spreads fast. And thanks to advanced engineering, Scavenger spreads all kinds of manure—liquid, semi-solid, pen pack (even frozen)—all year 'round. But more importantly, Scavenger's patented moveable square-auger and Variflo discharge combine to let you choose your optimum rate of application—from top dressing to heavy springtime spreading. You get the kind of spreads your crops need—nice and even, without damaging "hotspots". With Scavenger, your crops receive the essential nutrients to produce better yields.

See Scavenger for yourself.
Don't be misled by claims of other manufacturer's spreaders that say they do it all. See Scavenger for yourself and compare actual capabilities. We think you'll find your choice obvious—you'll choose Scavenger®.

For a firsthand look at Scavenger, see your local Hedlund/Martin dealer. Or for more information write: Hedlund/Martin, Inc., A Gehl Company, 741 Kutztown Road, Myerstown, PA 17067. Telephone: 717-933-4151

30 YEARS AGO
THIS WEEK

-With entries from eleven states already received, Charles Morrow, manager of the Eastern National Livestock Show, today reminded livestockmen that the deadline for entering stock in this year's show has been set for October 18.

Young farmers must enter their prize livestock in the 4-H Club and FFA classes by October 11.

-(Feature by Jack H. Owens) "Tomatoes are just about shot," seemed to be the most often expressed opinion Thursday among farmers and brokers in Lancaster County. Blight moved into the county several weeks ago, but did not become severe in tomato fields until 10 days ago. When it did strike, however, destruction was rapid and in some places almost complete.

The warmer and drier weather at the beginning of the week gave a small bit of hope to growers when it seemed the blight-ridden fields were holding their own and appeared the fruits still on the vines would ripen. With cool nights and increased humidity during the later days of the week, hope for any recovery faded.

- A newcomer this week to the Lancaster Farming staff and the eastern United States is Odiss L. "Dan" McGrew, who is assuming duties as the publication's news editor.

A native of Broken Arrow, Oklahoma, McGrew received his training in agricultural journalism from Oklahoma State University (A&M). He had edited a northwestern Oklahoma County-seat weekly, was farmer editor for a Nebraska daily, and comes to LF from the public relations department of the Nebraska Game Commission.

-"Agriculture -- Everybody's Business" will be the theme of the 1959 Pennsylvania Farm Show, the Farm Show Commission announced today.

The State Farm Show will be held next January 12 through 16, making it the 43rd since the event was founded in 1917.

- The biggest crop year on record is forecast as of August 1 by the Crop Reporting Board.

An estimated all-crop production index of 113 would be considerably more than the previous record of 106 set in 1948 and equalled in 1956 and last year. The per acre yield index covering 28 leading crops is estimated at 137, a record high, and 8 per cent above last year.

Purcell submitted three articles that appeared in Lancaster Farming on Lancaster County waterways, their clean-up and their relationship to the Chesapeake Bay pollution problems; on Garden Spot High School's Grassland FFA Building Our American Communities Project; and a series on Johnes, a disease in dairy cattle causing economic hardship to Pennsylvania dairy farmers.

Purcell, who resides in Nottingham, is the wife of Edward L. Purcell, Jr. and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brewer of Oxford, Pa. She is a 1986 graduate of the University of Delaware.

An award of $500 will be presented to Ms. Purcell at PennAg's 110th Annual Convention, which will be held from September 18-20 at the Sheraton Inn, Gettysburg, Pa.

Speakers to be featured at the 110th Convention will include William G. Hyland, editor of "Foreign Affairs" magazine, and Robert C. McFarlane, former National Security Adviser to President Ronald Reagan. PennAg Industries Association invites all members of the media to attend the convention.

County)."

Last year the number of layers increased by 291,400 to 9 million birds whereas the value of their eggs fell to $85.9 million.

"We've seen ups and downs (in the poultry industry) but not a continual down," Irwin said.

On the brighter side, although the total number of feeder cattle and calves decreased by 4,000, their value increased by $28.3 million. This reflects a 10-cent per hundredweight increase in price.

Neither Irwin nor Chet Hughes, Lancaster County livestock agent, believe that there will be a dramatic change in the numbers of feeder cattle in next year's report despite the high feed prices resulting from the drought situation. "There are still a lot of cattle still in feeder lots," said Hughes. "When the 1989 report comes out, then the figures will be down." Many cattlemen purchased feeder calves during the latter part of last year and early in 1988 when prices for the young stock were low, therefore the 1988 figures will reflect this action rather than the drought.

Lancaster County remains the top beef cattle producer with 265,000 animals. Following the county are Franklin with 92,000, Bradford with 90,500, and Berks with 75,000.

Also tops in hog production, with 38 percent of the state's hog population, Lancaster County farmers owned 328,000 swine last year as compared to the 49,700 hogs that York County farmers owned and the 45,000 owned by Berks Countians.

In 1987, Lancaster County hog production dropped slightly more than four percent and saw a $9.1 million decrease in value.

The number of sheep in the county has increased by 250 to 6,250 with a corresponding increase in the value of the animals. Lancaster County still remains a distant third in sheep numbers as compared to the number-one county, Greene with 1 million sheep, and Washington County with 828,000 sheep.

Lancaster County has 60 percent of its crop land in corn with a total of 180,600 acres producing an average of 103 bushels per acre in grain and 19.1 tons per acre in silage last year.

"Some areas had dry weather last year and that shows up right here in the corn production," stated Irwin. Although acres in corn for grain dropped by 15.5 thousand acres and and yield dropped by 16 bushels per acre last year, the value only dropped $2.5 million because price per bushel increased from $1.83 to $2.15.

Acres in corn for silage increased by about nine thousand acres as dairymen strove to fill their silos first last year.

Soybean acreage increased by 1,300 acres and yield increased one bushel per acre to 38.0. The value of soybeans went up too, by 35.5 percent.

Acres in wheat and barley decreased in 1987 as did yields. Slightly more acres were planted in oats, however, yields decreased by nine bushels per acre from 1986. Farmers planted more acres in potatoes, tobacco, hay, and vegetables last year and saw an increase in value for tobacco and hay and slight value decreases for potatoes and vegetables.

York County FFA Market Hog Sale

YORK — The York County FFA chapter will hold their annual swine show on Wednesday, September 14 at 1:00 p.m. Two days later, on Friday at 7:30 p.m., about 45 market hogs will be sold at the York Fairgrounds. The Couple Who Keeps Giving And Getting

BY LOU ANN GOOD

LEBANON — "If you want to get ahead yourself, help others," Victor Zeigler of Richland declares.

He and his wife, Grace, ought to know: Their conversation bubbles over with stories that prove their philosophy.

"We may not always make money, but we make many friends," Victor stresses.

But anyone who knows the Zeiglers also know they've made some money. In 35 years they've owned 16 farms. They don't accumulate them; instead, they help others get started at farming.

Where did the Zeiglers derive their giving philosophy? Partially from heredity and as the result of a hard time when they lost almost everything. "My dad and grandfather would give the shirt off their back," Victor recalls, but it wasn't until the Zeiglers lost almost everything they had before they became generous givers.

In 1952 Grace and Victor married. They farmed four years with Victor's dad before buying the home farm. They had six good years in farming and then disaster struck. Brucellosis invaded their herd when a cow was purchased from unscrupulous seller. Victor recalls, "I lost 78 cows from the disease. At the same time Grace was hospitalized for a month and almost died of complications from a hysterectomy."

It was a time that Victor vowed to become less concerned about increasing his own wealth and more concerned in helping missions. "I'll never forget," Victor said, "one night before I left the hospital, Grace took my hand and said, 'Let's pray and live.'"

That night Victor flipped open his Bible to the book of Job. He read that Job's wife advised him to curse God and die after adversity hurt him. In the end Job ended up with much more than he had started with. Victor contrasted his wife's advice to Job's wife. Victor decided things should end up better for them since his wife had such a great attitude.

And things did get better. Much better. Grace recovered after a second operation. And, suprisingly, the Zeiglers found a way to keep on farming. Although Victor was resigned to getting a lunch kettle and finding a job, he went to see his banker.

The banker admonished, "You had six great years in farming and you were going great guns—you can't quit now."

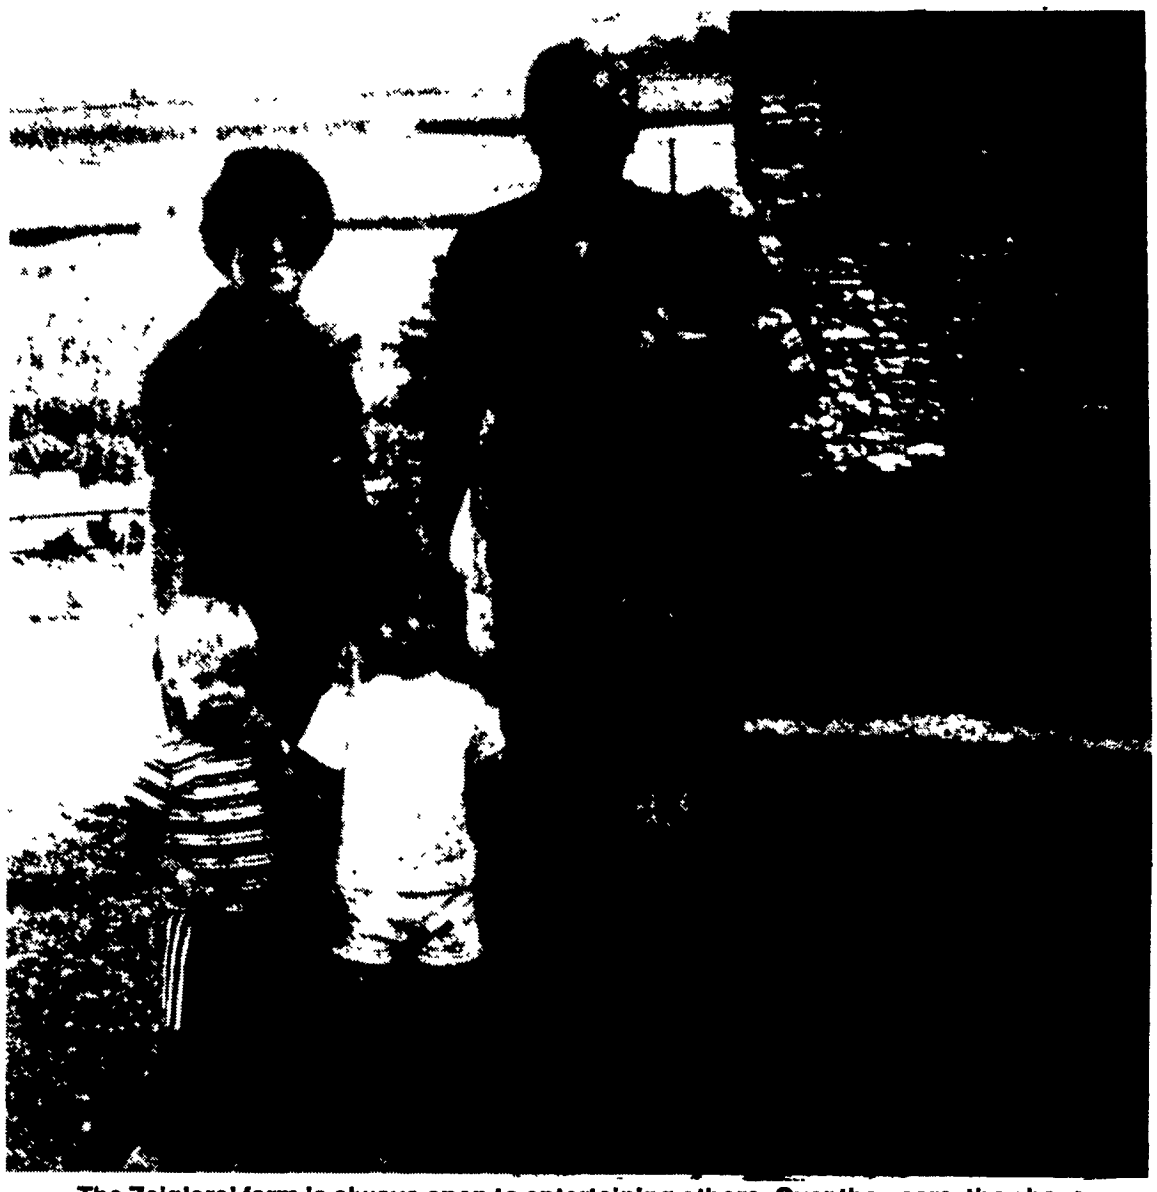
Victor admitted he desired to stay in farming, but the disease had totally wiped out his finances.

The banker admitted he could not loan him 100%, but he challenged Victor: "If you knew you lost your watch in one field, would you go to the opposite field to find it?"

"Of course not," Victor answered.

"Then," the banker said, "Go back into farming—you know how to be successful in that field."

Victor humbled himself, went to his dad and got him to sign a loan for $18,000; the bank lent him the remaining amount.



The Zeiglers' farm is always open to entertaining others. Over the years, they have provided a home for six foster children, eleven senior citizens, and nine refugees of the fifteen oversees families that they sponsored. Here, Grace and Victor are surrounded with several of their grandchildren.

Things took off after that. By 1975, the Zeiglers owned 600 cows and farmed 1,000 acres.

The Zeiglers started purchasing additional farms to help young couples realize their dream to farm the land. "It's better to give things away than get them," the couple state.

Besides helping farmers get a head start, the Zeiglers have dedicated themselves not only to financially supporting many non-profit organizations but also giving their time. For many years they were involved in a prison ministry and a halfway house.

Their concern for others is not always appreciated by society. Victor recalls when they purchased a farmhouse to be used as a halfway house, the neighborhood balked. One neighbor complained, "I moved from Philadelphia to get away from that trash and now you're bringing it into my back yard."

Victor answered, "The only difference between Philadelphia and here is 60 miles and 20 years. We're giving time and money to help offenders before they become hard-core criminals."

Grace, who was raised in a foster home, knows the importance of caring for others. Over the years, the Zeiglers have provided a home for six foster children, 11 senior citizens, and nine refugees of the 15 oversees families that they sponsored.

Victor is a firm believer in giving pledges to ministries. "It takes faith to pledge money and not know how you're going to get the money you just pledged." The Zeiglers tell story after story of how they received the money to pay their pledges. There are times when the money comes in the last hour before the deadline. For example, one time they wrote a check for $1,000 in faith and when they arrived home there was a $1,000 check on their kitchen table for a debt they had written off years before.

Another time, Victor, who was financing some property for Teen Challenge, encouraged his associates to believe for a specified

In 35 years they've owned 16 farms. They don't accumulate them; instead, they help others get started at farming.

Where did the Zeiglers derive their giving philosophy? Partially from heredity and as the result of a hard time when they lost almost everything.

Grace keeps as busy as her husband. She always has many projects which she oversees, but she's never too busy to spend some time with her grandchildren.

Grace and Victor Zeigler discuss their farming history with Lynn, one of their five children, all of whom are now married and have families of their own.

amount. "If you pray and I pray, we'll have it. Have faith because faith without works is dead."

When Victor returned home that afternoon, he found a check for $2,000—exactly what he needed—from a guy to whom he had sold some worthless stock seven years earlier. At the time, the guy had said, "If these stocks ever get to be worth anything, I'll split the money and give half of it to you to give to a ministry." Victor jubilantly reports, "God is faithful every time."

It isn't that Victor's faith isn't tested or that it doesn't run into some snags. Some years ago, he decided to trust God for his possessions and cancel all his insurance but liability and fire insurance. As a step of his faith, Victor gave the $5,000 premium to charity. Within weeks, lightning struck six of his cows. People expected Victor to become discouraged, but he did not. He recalls, "Even though we lost six cows, our milk check stayed as big as ever. We didn't even miss them."

Victor enjoys traveling and his travels are often intertwined with visits to both the biggest failure and the biggest success in the farming community. "I like to hear their stories and analyze why one failed and the other succeeded."

The Zeiglers' attorney sometimes complains of all the paper work flying around from their many transactions. He said, "If you passed away, I don't know what I'll do."

Of his endeavors, Zeigler admits, "As long as I break even, it's a terrific education and I'm ready for the next. I like to juggle money and get $2 out of $1."

The banker admonished, "You had six great years in farming and you were going great guns—you can't quit now."

Zeigler has applied conservation practices on many of his properties. He likes to buy and fix up farms. He isn't one merely to delegate work; instead, he rolls up his sleeves and gets into the job whether it is bulldozing, plowing or milking cows.

His days start at 4 a.m. and he stops working at 8 or 9 at night and he retires at 10 p.m. "I like to work," he said, "there is not much I don't like to do. I'd rather smell fresh-mowed hay than go golfing."

He also enjoys organizing events such as 30 farm companies going to Germany together and they visited Russia, singing in an octet and choir, and serving as a church deacon.

His wife keeps as busy as he does. She teaches both a class of mentally handicapped children in the Eastern Lebanon County school district and a Sunday School class. She is president of the Lebanon Valley Brethren Home Auxilary, serves on the committee for the annual Disaster Relief Auction and other church functions.

Zeigler's stories of faith are not limited to farming and giving. He tells of a brief physical showing up a heart problem. Two additional doctors confirmed that his heart was indeed blocked to the extent that they felt he had already had a heart attack. They scheduled him for surgery, but before Victor entered the hospital, he requested that the elders of his church anoint him with oil in accordance to a scripture in James 5. The next night, Victor could not sleep. His chest got so itchy, he kept scratching. Then he started sweating so much his feet left footprints on the floor. "I knew God was healing me," he said. At 3 a.m., he heard a cow having trouble with calving so he went out to help. Then he went to the hospital for his scheduled tests. "Every test came out negative," Victor gloats. "They kept saying, "We can't find anything wrong."

He continued, "I might die tomorrow from a heart attack, but I had six good years in the meantime."

And, in the meantime, Victor is keeping a former vow that he, after reaching 50 years of age, would spend one-half of his time working for charitable institutions. He's kept that vow, whether he's helping a farmer in need or serving on one of seven boards for places such as Teen Challenge, COBYS and Jubilee Prison ministries.

He has sat down with many people in financial trouble and advised and helped them. He rejoices that some of those he helped get a head start are now "worth more than I am."

The Zeiglers' faith is contagious. They add to their faith common sense, for they advise, "Don't jump into deep water when you can't swim. Try swimming in water you can stand in at first." Although they'd like to help many more persons than they do, they concede that they need to be more cautious and watch their cash flow.

While they admit that it's difficult for a young couple with nothing to buy a farm unless they buy at a lower price, they maintain, "if they are ambitious and honest, they can make it."

Part of failing, Victor believes, happen because people try to imitate each other. He said, "We need to work with the talents we have." He explained,"One time I talked with a guy who was so depressed he was about to commit suicide. It turned out that although he was a successful farmer, he was comparing himself with his millionaire neighbor. I told him, "You can't do that; otherwise, it will destroy your potential. We're not all gifted the same way. We need to exercise the talent we have; otherwise pressure builds up and we destroy ourselves."

Victor enthusiastically reports, "In the beginning my wife and I never dreamed we could cover so much ground. There's so much bad news being published every day, I like telling about the good news."

That's why Victor tells how living by faith really works in farming—not to impress people with his own talents but to challenge others to combine faith with hard work and honesty. He asserts, "With God, you can make it."

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

Most families need no special reason to get together, other than someone or something to get the ball rolling. Holidays offer an extra nudge.

Sometimes, the gatherings have a specific purpose; a shared meal, collective work accomplishment, maybe just a volleyball game. Or a family yard sale. That was the Labor Day plan circulated a few weeks ago through several branches on the paternal side of our family tree.

"Yard saling" as a participant hobby-sport-treasure hunt has long escaped my list of preferred pastimes, for two key reasons. No time to browse as a potential buyer. No time to set up as a seller. Plus, most of what anyone in this household would part with would get thumbs down from a junk specialist.

Still, when the family announcement of the Labor Day event circulated, my hopes for a minor dispersal of household odds n' ends lit up. What a great excuse for a bit of housecleaning.

After all, it was a holiday weekend, which yard sale soothsayers proclaimed as an auspicious period for such an event. And, the location, on the family's "home place," lay at the junction of a major rural highway and our local section of the nation's interstate highway system.

"An awesome yard sale location," assessed our youngest.

At 12 hours and countdown before the advertised opening, my merchandise was assembled. It consisted of one heavy, office-model, veteran electric typewriter, with the memory of reams of 8-½ by 11-inch sheets of copy and a brief stint at Penn State under its worn belts.

Assessing my lack of commitment to cleanout, I hustled to the attic and carted down our old office adding machine. Though dusty, the machine needed only the insertion of a new roll of paper tape for work readiness. Paired with the typewriter, it silently shouted of technological passage to computerization and digital readouts.

Before barn chores next morning, the former office duo snitched display space on the corner of a table bearing my mother-in-law's offerings. Though it was early, other family branches were also organizing their wares.

And, more than an hour before starting time, dedicated yard sale stalkers were already on the scene, studying the goodies even as they were being placed on display. The 'early bird gets the worm" cliche might have been coined by yard salers.

Several hours passed before I got back. And found the typewriter, still available at a reduced price, and an untouched adding machine. Also catching my eye from another's adjacent table was one item of irrestibility- a plant of a species not currently living in my houseplant collection.

Business- for some- had been brisk. I had forgotten how popular children's toys and games are at yard sales. A couple of shelves full of such yard sale games and puzzles, hauled home years ago by our own offspring, could have been dispersed here, had I thought about them. Too late- shopper volume was dropping off fast, and the yard sale becoming a visiting session.

My two farmers- and the dog- showed up via the field road, to assess the merchandise and visit with members of four generations of this clan.

"Looks more like a reunion," sagely observed the elder, joining the younger in samping goodies promptly offered from the collective lunch.

The plant I'd eyed earlier was thrust into my hands. This aunt was folding up shop and giving away leftovers. A cousin was moving items to a "free" table.

"Could you use these bug lights?" another aunt asked, handing the Farmer two bright yellow light bulbs.

There is obviously stagnant demand for veteran office equipment. It took some talking to persuade still another aunt she'd be rendering me a favor by just taking home the typewriter, so I didn't have to. And a few little great-grand children were acquiring gifts of "treasurers" they'd found on other tables, to take home with mothers who'd spent the day trying to get rid of similar items.

For some, it was a profitable sales day. Others of us just traded stuff around the family. As wholesome, holiday, family fun, it was a winner.

And the yellow bug light is "real cool" in the youngest's bedroom.

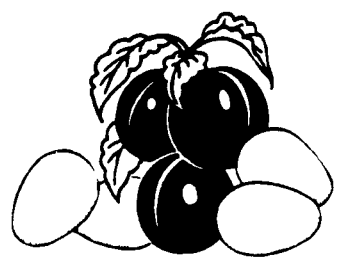
Reduce Cancer Risks Through Proper Diet

SCRANTON (Lackawanna) — Cruciferous -- it sounds like the name of an evergreen tree. In fact it is the scientific name for a family of plants that includes cabbages and related vegetables. Botanists use the term cruciferous to identify these plants because their blossoms resemble a cross or crucifix. Examples of cruciferous vegetables are green cabbage, red cabbage, Chinese cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, turnips and kohlrabi.

Most cruciferous vegetables are good sources of vitamin C, and broccoli and Brussels sprouts are good sources of vitamin A. Foods containing these vitamins are believed to play a role in the prevention of cancer.

Cruciferous vegetables are composed of many natural chemicals in addition to the vitamins and minerals important in nutrition. These chemicals act as natural anticarcinogens; they block the action of a carcinogen which helps to guard against cancer, particularly stomach and colon cancer.

It is recommended to eat cruciferous vegetables one to two times per week. However, for people taking anti-coagulent drugs, it is advised to consult a doctor before including cruciferous vegetables in their diet. Cruciferous and dark green leafy vegetables contain vitamin K which promotes blood clotting. Eating foods that contain vitamin K counteracts the blood thinning effect of some anti-coagulent drugs. Deep yellow vegetables are not major sources of vitamin K and so are safe to eat.



If you would like to learn more about how to improve your lifestyle to reduce your risk of cancer, register now for the "Creative Vegetable Cookery Course" which is being sponsored by the Penn State Cooperative Extension, Price Chopper Supermarkets, Mercy Hospital, and the American Cancer Society. The course will be held three consecutive Thursdays, September 15, 22, and 29 and will be taught by Karen Thomas, Penn State Cooperative Extension Home Economist, and Donna Stucklak, Home Economist for Price Chopper Supermarkets. Representatives from Mercy Hospital will also be on hand to discuss various topics relating to diet and cancer.

Day sessions will be held from 1:00 P.M. to 3:00 P.M. at the Covenant Presbyterian Church at the intersection of Olive Street and Madison Avenue in Scranton. Evening sessions will be from 7:00 P.M. to 9:00 P.M. at the Price Chopper Supermarket on Luzerne Street in Scranton.

Participant's cost for the course is $5. Paid reservations are due to the Penn State Cooperative Extension by September 1. Due to limited enrollment, reservations will be handled on a first paid first served basis. For more information or to make reservations, contact the extension office at 200 Adams Avenue, Scranton.

It's Okay To Fowl Up These Recipes

Poultry is enjoying a tremendous growth in popularity as consumers become more sophisticated about health and nutrition. And the increase will continue with experts forecasting that chicken will become the number one meat by 1990.

Chicken brings more to the table than good flavor. Lower in calories and fat than most meats, chicken provides the complete protein the body requires daily. It does not need rich sauces or other calorie-laden ingredients to enhance its flavor. It is delicious baked or roasted with nothing but its own natural seasoning. The addition of calorie-free herbs or spices can give chicken entirely different tastes. And it can be teamed with most nutritious fruits and vegetables for light, healthy meals.

Removing the skin on chicken cuts the already low fat content almost in half.

If your culinary talents love being stimulated, try your hand at these fabulous recipes.

CHICKEN AND RICE

1½ pounds boneless chicken thighs, cut in chunks
2¼ cups water
3 bouillon cubes
1 teaspoon salt, divided
1 cup long grain rice
1 can (4 ounces) mushroom stems and pieces
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon pepper
⅔ cup vegetable oil

In medium saucepan, place water, bouillon cubes and ¼ teaspoon salt. Place on high temperature and heat to boiling, stirring to dissolve cubes. Add rice, cover, reduce heat to low and cook until rice is done and liquid is absorbed, about 20 minutes. Stir in mushrooms and cover again for about 3 minutes. While rice is cooking, mix together flour, remaining ¼ teaspoon of the salt and pepper; add chicken and turn, coating all sides. In frypan, place oil and heat over medium high temperature. Add chicken and cook, turning, about 10 minutes or until brown on all sides and fork can be inserted in chicken with ease. Remove pan from heat; drain and discard all oil. Stir in rice-mushroom mixture, mixing well. Serves 4.

HERBED 'N' SPICED CHICKEN

8 broiler-fryer chicken parts
½ cup nonfat yogurt
½ teaspoon curry powder
1 cup herb-seasoned stuffing mix
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper

Grease a 9x13-inch baking pan. Mix together yogurt and curry powder. Pour dry stuffing mix into blender or food processor and process until crumbs form. Sprinkle chicken with salt and pepper, brush with yogurt mix and roll in stuffing crumbs. Place chicken in a single layer, skin side up, in baking pan. Bake in 350 degree oven for about 55 minutes or until fork can be inserted in chicken with ease. Serve hot or place in refrigerator to chill. Makes 4 servings.

ORANGE-GLAZED CHICKEN TIDBITS

¼ cup low-calorie orange marmalade
2 tablespoons soy sauce
½ teaspoon ground ginger
⅛ teaspoon garlic powder
15 ounces skinned and boned chicken breasts cut into 1-inch pieces

In medium mixing bowl combine all the ingredients except chicken. Add chicken pieces and toss to coat. Cover and refrigerate for 30 minutes. Toss again after 15 minutes. Transfer to broiling pan and broil 5 minutes. Turn, brush with marinade and broil three minutes longer. Serves 4.

Add fun to your youngsters' milk-break with an Apple 'N Spice Pizza Cookie.

This cookie of the 80's is made with the old-fashioned ingredients that never go out of style. White sugar blends with brown sugar into a pure sweet taste that gives this cookie a classic flavor. A wholesome touch is added with apples, oats and pecans.

Covered with melted chocolate chips and a confectioners' sugar drizzle, one wedge is bound to bring encores for milk.

This easy-to-make cookie is versatile, too -- the batter can be turned into simple drop cookies or shaped into a 14-inch pizza treat.

Apple 'N Spice Pizza Cookie

¾ cup (1½ sticks) butter, softened
¾ cup granulated sugar
½ cup firmly packly brown sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1½ cups unsifted all-purpose flour
1½ teaspoons ground cinnamon
¾ teaspoon baking soda
¾ teaspoon salt
1 cup shredded apple (1 medium)
¾ cup uncooked oats

Topping

1 pkg (6 oz) semi-sweet chocolate chips
1 cup chopped pecans
½ cup sifted confectioners' sugar
2 teaspoons milk

Preheat oven to 375°F. Generously grease 14-inch round pizza pan. In large electric mixer bowl, beat butter and sugars until creamy. Beat in egg and vanilla. Add flour, cinnamon, baking soda and salt; beat until batter is smooth. Stir in apple and oats. Spread batter evenly into pizza pan. Bake 20 to 25 minutes or until golden.

Remove from oven. Sprinkle chips onto hot cookie. Let stand 5 minutes until chips soften and look shiny. Spread with a metal spatula to make frosting. Sprinkle nuts on top. Cool completely.

In small bowl, combine confectioners' sugar and milk; mix until smooth. Drizzle on top of pizza cookie. Yield: a 14-inch cookie.

Apple 'N Spice Drop Cookie

Prepare batter for pizza cookie but stir in chips and nuts. Drop batter by rounded tablespoons, 2 inches apart, onto ungreased baking sheets. Bake in 375°F. oven, 12 minutes or until edges are golden. Let cool on baking sheets 1 minute. Transfer to wire rack. Cool completely. (Omit confectioners' sugar drizzle.) Yield: 2 dozen jumbo cookies.

ANSWER - May Ozimek, Flemington, N.J., requested good stir-fry recipes. Thanks to several readers who sent in recipes, that are included in the "Home On The Range" section page B6.

ANSWER - Martha Oberholtzer requested recipes using whole wheat flour. Thanks Esther Weaver, Gap; Joyce Shoemaker, Mt. Joy; Joann Niebauer, Irvona; and Sharon Shawley of Bittinger, Md.

Potato Buns

1 cup mashed potatoes
1 cup potato water
1 cup sugar
1 package yeast dissolved in ½ cup warm water
3 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
½ cup wheat germ
Flour, enough to make a soft dough

Mix and let rise until double in blulk. Don't knead. Roll out and cut. Let rise again. Bake at 350 degrees.

Refrigerator Whole Wheat Chippers

1⅔ cups whole wheat flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup shortening
½ cup brown sugar
⅓ cup honey
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup miniature chocolate chips
¼ cup toasted wheat germ

Stir together first four ingredients. Beat shortening, brown sugar, and honey until fluffy. Add egg and vanilla; beat well. Add dry ingredients to beaten mixture and mix thoroughly. Stir in chocolate chips. Cover and chill dough about 45 minutes for easier handling.

Shape into two 8-inch long rolls; roll in wheat germ to coat surface. Wrap in waxed paper; chill at least 6 hours. Cut dough into ¼ -inch slices. Place 1-inch apart on greased sheet. Bake 375 degrees for 10 to 15 minutes. Cool slightly before removing from sheet. Dough will keep for one week in refrigerator or one month in the freezer.

Rich Molasses Pecan Squares

Part 1:
½ cup softened butter
¼ cup warmed honey
1 teaspoon vanilla
⅛ teaspoon salt
1⅓ cups whole wheat pastry flour
Part II
¼ cup softened butter
⅓ cup honey
3 tablespoons unsulphured molasses
1 egg, unbeaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 tablespoons yogurt
¾ cup whole wheat pastry flour
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon soda
¾ cup finely chopped pecans
½ cup finely chopped pecans for topping

Preheat oven to 325 degrees and butter an 8x12-inch baking dish. Thoroughly mix the ingredients in Part I. Spread batter evenly into prepared baking pan. Bake for 20 minutes.

Cream butter, honey, molasses, egg, vanilla and yogurt until light. Stir together flour, salt, and soda. Add ¾ cup pecans, then mix with creamed mixture, combining thoroughly.

Pour over partly baked bottom layer, spreading evenly, and sprinkle with ½ cup pecans.

Return to oven and bake about 25 minutes. Cool thoroughly before cutting into squares. Yields: 40 squares.

Orange Cookies

½ cup butter
½ cup warmed honey
1 egg
3 teaspoons grated orange peel
⅓ cup orange juice
¾ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
2 to 2¼ cups whole wheat pastry flour

Combine butter, honey, egg and orange peel. Mix well. Add orange juice and dry ingredients, combining thoroughly. Let dough stand for 15 minutes. Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

Drop by teaspoonful 2 inches apart onto ungreased baking sheet. Dough spreads during baking. Bake 8 to 10 minutes. Store in airtight container. Yields: about 4 dozen.

Carrot Cake

2 eggs
½ cup warmed honey or maple syrup
¾ cup oil
¼ cup buttermilk
1½ cups grated carrots
½ cup chopped nuts
1¼ cups whole wheat pastry flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
1 tablespoon cinnamon
¾ cup apricot glaze

Preheat oven to 300 degrees and grease an 8x8-inch pan.

In a mixing bowl, beat eggs. Add honey, oil, and buttermilk. Beat until well-blended. Stir in carrots and nuts.

In a separate bowl, sift together flour, salt, soda, and cinnamon. Fold into carrot mixture and mix well but do not beat. Pour batter into prepared pan and bake in preheated oven for 1 hour.

Remove from oven and allow to cool for 10 minutes. Cover with apricot glaze and allow to cool completely. Apricot glaze:

2 cups pitted and chopped fresh apricots
1 thinly sliced lemon with peel, chopped
⅓ cup honey.

In a medium-sized saucepan, combine apricots, lemon and honey. Heat slowly over low heat until honey is dissolved and fruit becomes juicy. Put mixture into the container of a blender and blend at medium speed until completely pureed. Return to saucepan and cook slowly for 5 to 8 minutes, stirring so glaze will not scorch. Cool. Place in covered jar and store in refrigerator.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

The other week my husband and I were invited to visit a hunting lodge in Snyder County. It was to be a two day fishing trip at nearby Walker Lake.

Everything was fine until we had to climb a mountain and the radiator in the truck developed a leak and the motor overheated. The only water that we had was in a small thermos and that was not enough. Where to get water and what to put it in was the question. For once, we were glad for the roadsite litter. We gathered empty milk cartons, beer bottles and plastic containers and walked to a spring in the woods.

I was surprised at the size of the cabin in the woods. It was very large and could sleep 17 people. There were three large refrigerators, a gas stove, an electric stove and a large fireplace. The living room had three sofas, numerous chairs, lamps and tables.

Our Saturday fishing was better than our Sunday morning expedition. We launched our boat and were one of many on the lake. The weather was beautiful on both days. I used earthworms and caught twenty pan fish. The men used expensive lures to catch big fish and caught none.

On Sunday we got up at 5 a.m. and thought we'd be one of the first people at the lake. But, we found that many people had arrived before us. The conditions seemed ideal for catching fish but most fishermen said they only caught a few small bass. I did not keep all of the fish that I caught as some were quite small. While I was catching them and having fun, I did not think about the time it would take me to clean all of those fish. But I'm still glad that I caught them.

ANSWER - Sara Horst, Gardners, wanted to know how to remove candle wax from cotton material. Thanks Gloria Sweigart, Manheim, who suggested she pour on a generous amount of Avon-Skin-So-Soft. Scrape with a dull knife, add a few more drops and launder. Another reader suggests covering the wax with wax paper. Iron until wax melts. Scrape off and wash.

QUESTION - Mabel Hoffer, Manheim, requested a recipe for Christmas pickles. Thanks LaRue Bay, Muncy, and Mrs. James Richey, Cochranville, for sending recipes.

Christmas Pickles

Wash cucumbers and pack whole in a gallon jar
4 tablespoons salt
8 tablespoons pickling spice
4 tablespoons alum
4 cups vinegar

Mix salt, spice, alum and vinegar, pour on top of pickles. Add enough water to cover pickles. Screw lid tightly on jar and let set until December.

Open, drain and wash off. Slice ¼ -inch thickness. Pack pickles in jars and add 8 cups sugar and 8 tablespoons water. Shake jar to dissolve sugar. Let stand overnight. Will keep in refrigerator for several weeks.

Do You Know?

Pink grapefruit is pink because, in part, it contains much more betacarotene that white grapefruit. Betacarotene is the nutrient that turns into vitamin A once it is inside the body. But while supplying more than 27 times the amount of beta-carotene in white grapefruit, half of a medium-sized pink grapefruit still provides only about 6 percent of the daily recommended amount of vitamin A.

One tablespoon of ketchup (or if you prefer, catsup) contains about 16 calories -- and about 170 milligrams of sodium. Most people use more than one tablespoon by the time they finish off a burger and fries.

Paprika, the reddish-orange seasoning used more often to color than flavor foods, is made from dried pods of sweet red peppers.

Kid's Korner

These Children Say Happy Grandparents Day!

Brian Crider of Shippensburg likes visiting his grandmother at Menno Haven, Chambersburg. Brian said, "I like to hear her tell stories."

Sunday is grandparents day. It's a day to tell our grandma and grandpa how special they are to us.

Some of you have written to tell us why you like visiting with your grandparents. You're sure to want to show a newspaper clipping to them.

You'll find a listing of books that tell stories about grandparents and their grandchildren doing things together. Read the short review about each one then decide which ones you'd like to read. Ask for them at the library or bookstore. Have fun reading.

Don't forget to wish a "HAPPY GRANDPARENTS DAY" to those special people in your life.

I like to go to Grandad Fishers (John L. and Rebecca) 'cause they have a scooter and coral set and always candy.

I also like to visit my grandad Stoltzfuses who are Isaac and Marian. There, I always have fun with my Uncle Christ; he is my age. We hunt eggs and play with calves. I never come home hungry.

Six-month-old Johanna Rohrer is too young to tell why she likes her grandma, but her coos and smiles show that she thinks grandma is pretty special. Johanna is the daughter of Dudley and Beth Rohrer and her grandparents are Dan and Grace Rohrer of Manheim.

I like going to my grandparents because they give me candy. My grandmother is the BEST cook in the country. They are really grand grandparents.

I like when Pop-pop comes to help us on our farm and when mom-mom reads books to me and we go to McDonalds.

Joshua Kratzer, Oley

I like my grandparents because they buy me nice clothes and toys and take me out to McDonald's. I have fun playing "Uno" with them. I love them very much.

We love our grandpa and grandma Hershey (Floyd and Mary) and our grandpa and grandma Newcomer (Paul and Anna Mae) because they...

- •push us on the swing
- •go for walks with us through the woods
- •took us to Dutch Wonderland
- •Let us play "songs" on their piano
- •take us to eat at a restaurant on our birthdays
- •read us storybooks

She goes skating on a frozen pond, hunting for treasures in her grandmother's attic, and, when the electricity goes off, the two of them "camp out" in front of the wood stove downstairs. This is a warm, beautifully illustrated story of a grandmother and granddaughter sharing lovely moments together.

"Grandpa's Slide Show"
by Deborah Gould

Unique and intriguing illustrations enhance the text of this gentle story about two young boys who enjoy "overnights" at their grandparents' house. During those sleep-overs, Grandpa always puts on a slide show for the children. Not only do the boys love the photos, but Sam, the older boy, enjoys pushing the control button when Grandpa says "Next slide, please." The beloved ritual of the slide show helps sustain the family even after Grandpa dies, and helps to keep his memory alive in their hearts and minds.

"Blackberries in the Dark"

Farm Women

LANCASTER — Farm Women Society 20 met September 1st at the home of Mary Shirk with Lillian Winters as co hostess. The guest speaker was Jean Nevins, Case Worker for the Office of the Aging. They have two parttime and two fulltime workers and receptionists. Volunteers are needed to call people who have no one or live alone to be sure they are all right or find out if they need anything. There are those who escort people to the doctors or places they need to go, those who help them check insurance. She mentioned PACE which is a great savings and there is an activity group. They promote dignity of the people and all transactions are kept confidential.

Following devotions by Lillian Winters, the president, Anna Mary Groff, conducted the business meeting. It was reported that a donation was given last month to the Southern Lancaster County Library. We were reminded of the Bazaar Table at the County Convention. A nice letter was read from Patrick Graver who we sponsored for the Young Leaders Conference post Graduate. Four Sympathy and two Get Well cards were sent and we voted to pay $4.00 dues instead of $3.00 as before.

A report was given on the picnic which was held in August at Huffnagel Park. There was an attendance of 27 for the September meeting. The October meeting will be held at the home of Barbara Stone with Dorothy Shirk was co hostess.

NEW BAKING POTATO

If you are a lover of baked potatoes, you can look forward to a new potato this fall. It is a new, pure white baking potato, called the "Costal Russet", recently released by reserachers at the U.S. Department of Agriculture. This baked potato is whiter and moister than the Russet Burbank, the nation's leading baked potato. Many baking potatoes turn light beige inside when baked, but not the new Coastal Russet.

This whiter potato is result of 10 years of research. The researchers started out to develop a coarse brown-skinned potato suitable for the varied growing conditions of the eastern coastal areas from Maine to Florida. The new potato can be grown anywhere in the United States.

This new potato looks good with its shallow eyes and attractive skin pattern. And it takes 30 to 40 days less to mature than the popular Russet Burbank. So, this fall, you can begin looking for the new Eastern-grown baking potato along local roadside markets and in supermarket produce sections. You can enjoy potatoes even if you are counting calories. A medium sized baked potato has only 90 calories. It is the rich topping you pile on potatoes that give an honest potato a bad reputation.

FRESH PRODUCE CONSUMPTION BOOMING

The fresh produce section in a typical supermarket is now about twice as big as it was ten to twelve years ago. The fresh produce section usually takes up about 15 percent of the total store size and often up to 200 different items are stocked.

Why is this particular section of the supermarket expanding? Response to consumer demands! People are simply eating more fresh fruits and vegetables than ever before. Over the past decade, per capital consumption of fresh produce has risen 12 percent in the United States and consumption of canned foods has dropped about 15 percent. If this pattern continues in future years, Americans will eat even more fresh produce.

Some veggies are more popular than others. For example, we are eating 15 percent more broccoli, and the consumption of cauliflower has risen 130 percent during the last decade. Other big gainers have been lettuce, celery, carrots and tomatoes.

Lots of factors contribute to our eating changes. The baby-boomers generation is getting older and it is natural to eat a bigger variety of foods as you age. Society has also become more health conscious and the desire to eat light and get lots of vitamins and fiber tends to draw people to fresh fruits and vegetables.

Now Is The Time To Enjoy Pears

Looking for new dessert ideas? Try fresh Bartlett pears. They lend themselves to easy, quick and elegant desserts and, as snacks, they also make good out-of-hand eating.

Shop carefully and know what to look for when buying fresh pears. Pears are one of the few fruits that are not tree ripened. Bartletts are picked green but the ripening process continues as the skin takes on the familiar golden glow. Give them the squeeze test for ripeness. If they are hard to the touch, store them at room temperature, preferably 3 to a paper sack. Within 1 to 3 days they will ripen and be ready for eating. They should yield to gentle thumb pressure and skins will be a golden yellow color. Refrigerate to inhibit further ripening. Use them often in colorful combinations for good summer and autumn eating.

Pear Ambrosia is one of the easiest, most elegant desserts possible. Just combine fresh Bartlett pear chunks with a touch of grated orange and orange juice plus a touch of sugar. Add snowy flaked coconut and there's your ambrosia.

You can serve steak with great flair by adding golden slices of fresh pears to flank steak. Marinate them together in a herb marinade, place over glowing coals and create a steak of unforgettable taste and tenderness.

A pear salad -- California style -- not only tastes good, but is colorful as well. Fill fresh pear halves with creamy avocado balls and tart grapefruit sections. Place on a bed of iceberg lettuce and deep-green fresh spinach leaves. Serve with a lightly seasoned oil and lemon juice dressing.

Another quick way with pears is to serve them with cheese and crackers... for dessert, for snacks, or for picnics.

They're subtle enough to blend well with other foods, but distinctive enough to retain their own flavor. You'll find your own ways with pears... it's time to experiment.

Drying Plants In The Microwave

If you have a microwave oven, you can reduce the drying time for flowers and herbs from several weeks to a few days. The microwave oven works best in combination with a drying agent such as silica gel. Select a container deep enough to let you cover the flower or plant with the drying agent.

With flowers, leave about a half inch of stem on the flower and place it face up in a half inch layer of drying agent. Cover the blossom with another layer of drying agent.

When the plant parts are covered, place the container in the microwave with a small bowl of water. Microwaves differ as far as energy and power levels are concerned, so you will have to experiment at first. In general, most flowers will take about 3 minutes, rotating after each minute.

Plant parts will not be dry and brittle as soon as they come from the microwave oven. Set aside the container of drying agent and plant material for up to 24 hours before you remove or handle the dried items. For example, roses should set as long as 24 hours, while thinner material like dogwood flowers require only about eight hours of curing.

To microwave-dry herb foliage, place washed leaves on a paper plate or several layers of paper towel.

Farmers' Flies Bug Suburbanites

BELTSVILLE, Md.— Flies from neighboring farms aren't one of the charms of country life, residents of many rural housing developments have discovered.

As a result, fly-bitten suburbanites have pressured farmers in some areas -- especially those raising livestock -- to eliminate the insects or evacuate their animals from nearby fields.

"It's a growing problem in almost all parts of the country, but especially where developers are gobbling up farmlands," says Lawrence G. Pickens, a research entomologist with the federal Agricultural Research Service here.

The Agricultural Department estimates that nationally, new housing and other urban development claim 900,000 to 1.5 million acres annually.

Pickens speaks from firsthand experience. Maryland officials gave the Beltsville center an ultimatum two years ago: Either control the flies or get rid of the farm animals.

So far the animals have stayed, thanks to an aggressive control program that Pickens devised. Improved traps and baits, which he hopes will ultimately have a nationwide impact, play a big part in his efforts.

"Until recently we've had trouble with baits," Pickens tells National Georgraphic News Service. "Some have contained dangerous ingredients; others have either been smelly, costly, or difficult to prepare. But now I think we've come up with a winner."

The experimental concoction contains sugar, baking powder, yeast, honey, dried blood or fish meal, and banana flavoring. Two 1-inch cubes of the bait, shaped in an ordinary ice tray, are placed in a pan of water beneath a cylindrical aluminum trap. Once inside, the insects fly upward through a narrow cone, drawn by the sunlight that shines through the plexiglass top of the trap.

They can't escape, and starve to death within a day. As many as 20,000 flies can be captured in the trap before it has to be emptied.

A little knowledge of fly behavior makes traps and baits moe effective. For instance, Pickens says, the insects cruise about 3 feet above the ground and like to fly along the edges of shrubs, fences, or rows of trees. Inside buildings they tend to go down near the floor and patrol the perimeter of a room. They have been known to cover 5 miles a day in search of food.

Laboratory tests have convinced Pickens that flies can discern some differences in colors and have a natural affinity for light. The bright white "Beltsville pyramid," another trap devised by the entomologist, shows great promise and is being tested at farms in the region.

Measuring 2 feet square at the base and standing 2 feet tall, the inexpensive plywood structure is covered with sheets of plastic treated with an adhesive that can snare 3,000 flies. The pyramid works better than other shapes because its surface reflects light uniformly, Pickens explains.

Scientists at the center are working on a weatherproof insecticide, harmless to animals, that would coat the pyramids. It would eliminate the nuisance of having to replace the sticky sheets when they become covered with flies.

Richard L. Pugh, a Highland, Md., dairy and grain farmer, credits the cylindrical traps with reducing fly-borne pinkeye disease among his heifers last year, and he has high hopes for the pyramids, which he has placed near his barns.

"Flies have always been a major nuisance for the farmer," he says. "In some cases they make life so miserable for cows that milk production is affected."

The demand for an efficient fly trap extends far beyone farms and suburbs, says Normand F. Reed of Hopedale, Mass., owner of the only company that makes the cylindrical traps.

The devices have been purchased by owners of restaurants, nursing homes, landfills, and ice cream parlors. "The best location for many traps is right by a dumpster," says Reed. "It's an incredible fly-breeding ground."

A tempting dinner for a hungry fly might consist of sugar, baking powder, yeast, honey, dried blood or fish meal, and banana flavoring. The experimental bait, developed by the U.S. Agricultural Research Service, attracts the insects to a trap. It's one of several attractants being tested in Beltsville, Md., in response to burgeoning fly populations in suburbs next to farms, where flies thrive, particularly around livestock. Scientists are also working on other new types of traps.

MICROWAVE MINUTES

By JOYCE BATTCHER

Size of food is related to microwave cooking time. Large, thick pieces of food need longer cooking ume than small thin pieces.

Take zucchini, for instance. Stuffed zucchini halves take longer to cook than zucchini chunks. Chunks need longer cooking time than thin slices. And, thin slices need more cooking time than shreds of grated zucchini.

Let's say, for example, instead of making Cheesy Stuffed Zucchini (below), you decide to cut a medium zucchini into chunks, microwave it and then stir in the stuffing cubes and cheese. Those chunks would be done in about two to three minutes. Same with Summer Squash Combo. If you'd rather buzz the zucchini through your food processor's shredding disc, the shreds would cook in about half the time as slices. (Note: If you use shredded zucchini, be sure to precook the onion and pepper strips or coarsely chop them -- otherwise they'll still be uncooked and crisp when the zucchini shreds are done.)

From the above examples, you see that it's important to follow recipe directions as to size and thickness of ingredients. Or, to be aware that if you substitute smaller, thinner pieces of food, slightly less microwaving time will be needed. Anytime you vary the size of food from what the recipe calls for, you'll need to adjust time accordingly.

No matter what size pieces of zucchini you use in today's recipes, you'll have some tasty eating.

Notice in Cheesy Stuffed Zucchini, the zucchini shells are cooked until done before adding the cheese and crouton stuffing, because only a very short microwave time is needed to heat the croutons and melt the cheese. Summer Squash Combo is a beautiful-looking combination of green-skinned zucchini, yellow-skinned summer squash, and strips of sweet red pepper. Even if you use only zucchini and green peppers, the color and flavor is outstanding. Stirring once halfway through cooking time aids in fast and even cooking. Speedy Zucchini For One, is what it's name implies -- a very quickly-prepared, fast-cooking zucchini dish. A ½ or even ¾ cup of shredded zucchini is tender in less than two minutes.

Cheesy Stuffed Zucchini

1 medium zucchini (about 6 inches long, 1½ inches in diameter)
Crumbled dried thyme
½ cup herb-seasoned stuffing cubes or croutons
¼ cup American Process cheese spread cubes

Cut zucchini in half lengthwise. Using a sharp knife (and, if available, a grapefruit spoon), scoop out and discard seeds, leaving shells about ¼ - to ½ -inch thick. Place shells, cut-side up, in a microwave-safe pie plate; cover with plastic wrap. Microwave (High) 3 to 4 minutes or until bottom centers are tender when pierced with a fork. Sprinkle each lightly with thyme. Divide stuffing cubes between shells; top with cheese cubes. Recover with plastic wrap. Microwave on Medium (50% power, 325-350 watts) 45 to 90 seconds or until cheese just starts to melt. Makes 1 large or 2 medium main dish servings.

Each serving: ½ of recipe: 125 calories, 7g protein, 1g fat, 19g carbohydrate, 450mg sodium, 4mg cholesterol.

Summer Squash Combo

1 medium zucchini, unpeeled and thinly sliced
½ medium yellow summer squash, unpeeled and thinly sliced*
½ large red or green sweet pepper, thinly sliced
1 small onion, cut in thin strips
1 clove garlic, minced
½ teaspoon dried oregano
3 tablespoons olive oil or butter
Freshly ground black pepper
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

In a microwave-safe 2-quart casserole, stir together zucchini, yellow summer squash, red sweet pepper, onion, garlic and oregano. Drizzle with olive oil or dot with butter. Cover with lid or plastic wrap. Microwave (High) 4 to 6 minutes, stirring once, or until vegetables are almost desired doneness. Toss with pepper and Parmesan. Serve as a vegetable or over cooked pasta for a main dish. Makes about 8 vegetable-servings.

*Or use all zucchini. There should be a total of about 5 cups of thinly sliced zucchini and yellow squash or all zucchini. If using large zucchini or yellow squash, remove seeds before slicing.

Each serving: 67 calories, 1g protein, 6g fat, 4g carbohydrate, 25mg sodium, 2mg cholesterol.

Speedy Zucchini For One

½ -¾ cup unpeeled shredded zucchini
1 teaspoon olive oil or butter
Seasoned salt
Onion or garlic powder
1 teaspoon grated Parmesan cheese

Arrange shredded zucchini in a 4-inch flat pattie on microwave-safe saucer. Drizzle with olive oil or dot with butter. Sprinkle lightly with seasoned salt and onion or garlic powder. Cover with waxed paper. Microwave (High) 1¼ to 2 minutes, depending on desired doneness. Sprinkle with Parmesan. Makes 1 vegetable serving.

For four servings: Evenly spread 2 to 3 cups shredded zucchini in microwave-safe pie plate. (If necessary, first drain zucchini well.) Drizzle with 1 tablespoon olive oil or dot with 1 tablespoon butter. Sprinkle lightly with seasonings. Cover with waxed paper. Microwave (High) 2 minutes; stir well, recover, and continue microwaving (High) 1½ to 2 minutes or until zucchini is almost desired doneness. Sprinkle with about 1 tablespoon Parmesan and a light dusting of paprika before serving.

Each serving: 64 calories, 2g protein, 5g fat, 4g carbohydrate, 13mg sodium, 3mg cholesterol.

Questions and Answers

Q. I tried to make own angel food cake pan by setting a custard cup in the center of a casserole. The custard cup floated up in the thin cake batter, so I added water to the custard cup, but then the cake took a lot longer to cook. What did I do wrong?

A. Your idea was fine. By adding the water to the custard cup, you added more food (in this case, liquid) for the microwave to cook, so the cooking time increased. This didn't hurt the cake any. In fact, it probably aided in cooking your cake more evenly. But next time, you could try setting two custard cups - one inside the other - in the center; then cooking time would be similar to time given in the recipe.

Neighbors, Friends, Strangers Rally To Help Amish Family

NEW HOLLAND —They came by the thousands in horse and buggies, cars, pick-up trucks and bikes. Neighbors, friends, and strangers came to a New Holland farm last Saturday from as far away as Florida, Rhode Island and Argentina.

Why did they come? Mostly to support the benefit sale that was being held for Joseph Esh and his family. Passerbys, uncertain of the event but attracted by the crowds, stopped too. Whatever the reason, the proceeds from the sale will go toward the Amish family that was severely injured by an intoxicated, hit and run driver on June 27.

"We sold 1,400 subs and more than 1,600 pounds of chicken and it was not nearly enough," one of the organizers of the event reported. "I couldn't believe it, people delivered baked goods by the van loads. In the beginning I thought, 'Who is going to buy all these things?' But the people kept coming. Freshly baked bread barely had time to touch the table before it was snatched up."

While donated items were auctioned and sold, the smell of barbecue chicken wafted over the New Holland farm that served as the sale site. Freshly turned ice cream and steaming hot chicken corn soup attracted the patrons. There were baskets of pears, peaches, and cataloupes to take home.

A spokeswomen for the event refused to be identified because "it would not be fair to give one person credit. It can't be said that anyone does it. Many, many people helped make it a success."

Although two districts of the Amish community organized the benefit, the help was not limited to the Amish. The spokeswoman said, "Many 'English' people helped transport all the food and supplies; we couldn't have done it without them." She continued, "One, Galen Martin, who is with Animal Medic, offered his services. For several days before the sale, he acted as a "go-for". His help was invaluable to us because we don't have cars and there were so many things that needed transported."

Seven members of the Esh family received injuries. In addition to Esh who is paralyzed from the neck down, his wife, Barbara, lost her spleen and suffered a miscarriage. Three daughters suffered broken legs. Three-year-old Lizzie received minor injuries and one-year-old Barbara is recovering from a concussion.

A friend of the family reported that the little girls are improving fast. Two are on crutches, another in a wheelchair. She said, "A piece of bone is missing from one of the girl's leg but doctors are hoping that since she is young, the bones will grow together. In the meantime a pin was inserted for 18 months."

It was reported that the father who is paralyzed from the neck down, and still hospitalized, is regaining a fighting spirit. He, so accustomed to hard physical labor, felt useless after the accident to support his family of seven. Then a letter came from another paraplegic who encouraged him: "You might feel like a burden because you cannot help your family, but remember you'll still be there to guide them."

"Things like that cheer him," an Amish friend remarked. "It's a little word here and there from people who care—some that don't even know him—that makes a difference."

Although enthusiastic about the success of the sale, the organizers admitted, "What we collected is only a splash in the bucket toward the amount the family needs." The Esh bill has already bypassed $300,000. Insurance should cover $100,000 of that amount, but Esh hasn't begun his rehabilitation.

The Amish community will continue to provide financial support for the family. One member of the sect noted that in cases like these, no formal plan is devised. "We know the need is there and we continue to visit and give. It would be an unheard of thing for an Amish family to visit needy members and not take along food and let it on the kitchen sink before leaving."

The 23-year-old driver struck the Esh buggy while they were traveling to church will stand trial on charges of drunken driving, hit-and-run and reckless driving.

This was not the first benefit sale held at the New Holland farm. Since 1981, the family has been hosting a benefit sale for a needy member of the community. According to a participant, the benefits were first implemented when an Amish woman named Barbara Lapp organized a small sale for a widow. Because Barbara derived great pleasure from helping others, she continued the annual tradition by helping other needy families. Last summer, Barbara succumbed to lung cancer. A friend remarked, "We knew that the last thing she'd want is for the benefit sales to stop. There is always a person who needs it."

Those who knew Barbara explained, "What she started is just like a small seed that keeps growing. Even though she is no longer with us, the seed she planted keeps growing."

Those desiring to contribute to the fund, may send donations to the Beiler Benefit Fund, 101 Amishtown Road, New Holland, PA 17557, or phone 717 354-6066.

Ten Steps To Improve Listening

To get along in any relationship whether it's at home, at work, or among friends, the key is communication... that means two-way communication. Most of us are really good at the sending end, but not so good at the receiving end. After a while others will just not bother trying, because they think "she'll never listen." Here are Ten Steps to Improve Listening. It works for men and women, parents and kids.

1. STOP TALKING: You cannot listen if you are talking.

2. PUT THE TALKER AT EASE: Help them feel they are free to talk.

3. SHOW THEM THAT YOU WANT TO LISTEN: Look and act interested. Do not read a magazine or perform other chores while they talk. Listen to understand, rather than to oppose.

4. REMOVE DISTRACTIONS: Don't doodle, change the radio station or TV channel. It might be quieter if you shut the door and turn the radio and/or TV off.

5. EMPATHIZE WITH THE TALKER: Try to put yourself in his place so that you can see his point of view.

6. BE PATIENT: Allow plenty of time. Do not interrupt. Don't start for the door or walk away.

7. HOLD YOUR TEMPER: An angry person takes the wrong meaning from words.

8. GO EASY ON ARGUMENT AND CRITICISM: This puts people on the defensive, and they may "clam-up" or become angry. Don't argue even if you win, you lose.

9. ASK QUESTIONS: This encourages a talker and shows you are listening. It helps to develop points further.

10. STOP TALKING: This is the first and last, because all other guidelines depend on it. You cannot do a good listening job while you are talking.

CAN YOU TRUST YOUR KNIVES IN THESE TOUGH TESTS?

You can if they're New Holland knives. Every time New Holland updates or improves its cutterheads and knives, it puts the prototypes through these severe tests for durability, wear and dependability.

TEST I Must pulverize a 2"x2"x5-foot long solid oak plank. To pass this test, no damage is allowed.

TEST II Must chew up and spit out a cold rolled steel bar, five feet long and 5/8" in diameter, stapled to a 1"x4" pine stud. Steel bar will be chipped into pieces about 1/2" long. Knife edge damage is expected, but knives must be reusable after vigorous sharpening.

TEST III Must chop up a 5-foot-long gathering chain stapled to a 1"x4" pine stud. Severe knife damage is expected. Body of each knife, however, must remain stable. Knives might be resharpenable. Test will end when or if shearbolt fails, or when entire gathering chain is chopped up, whichever happens first.

The Charles Good Family Talks About Passing On The Farming Tradition

STRASBURG (Lancaster) — When five out of seven children choose farming for their livelihood, you know their parents' atttitude must have had some influence on them. Then, again, just because a child does not choose farming does not mean he or she rejects the values gained from childhood.

Charles Good, the father of the clan that hails from Strasburg, admits that he's prejudiced when it comes to farming. He said, "I think it's the best way. Families are closer."

He attributes his children's continuing interest in farming to the opportunities they saw in it. "You've got to make it appealing," he said. "You must keep things updated and not farm a rundown farm where they see no opportunities for a profit."

What do his children say?

Don Good

Don, the oldest of the seven children of Charles and Susie Good, said, he, his wife Phoebe and their four children rented a farm for 14 years. He loved it and it worked out well, but he felt "the Lord nudging me toward fulltime pastoring."

Don added, "The value of the land was beyond what I could see paying off for the rest of my life."

For many years he worked both in farming and in pastoring for the East Petersburg Mennonite Church. "It was a struggle not to respond to the wheel that squeaks the loudest," he admitted. And

God led us into farming, and then He led us away."

Glen Good

Glen, the second son, said, "Growing up I was always intriqued by the joy of home life on the farm. We didn't go on vacation, but we had good times at home."

Today Glen and his two sons, Dana and Dean, farm 165 acres and milk 115 cows. "It's encouraging to see my children take an interest in farming," Glen said. He believes that there is a future in farming although it may be tougher to prosper than it was during the past generation.

"My father had a strong, but loving personality that conveyed if you do not go into farming it's the wrong way."

farm work with its demanding schedule and weather dependency often kept him from pastoral care and sermon preparation. He saw less and less percentagewise of people remaining in farming. And Don felt less doors opening for him in farming and more into pastoring.

At that point, the daugher of the landlord from whom they rented was getting married and wanted to move in the farmhouse. Don believes, "If you really want to stay on the farm, it's best to own it."

In 1981, Don sold his cows, but continued farming until 1984 when he sold his equipment. The decision was made only after much soul searching.

He affirms, "The farming values that were passed on to me were excellent. It's an excellent place to raise a family and there is work for everyone. I miss that. Our four children don't have the things to do that they did while growing up on the farm."

A few times a year, he takes some time off to help fill the silo or assist in planting. "That nostalgic is there, tugging at me. That continual challenge that I could make it go if I had another chance at farming. But, it's a false picture. There's a heavy debt load and long hours."

Still, his farming background pops up in the illustrations he uses to explain biblical principals to the residents at the Landis Homes Retirement Center in Lancaster.

For those contemplating change, he believes it is essential to process the decision with the family. For him, the decision to farm or not to farm is based solely upon the principal that "For awhile

Jane added, "I really believe in the family farm. We want our children to feel land is important and that they shouldn't cover it with houses." Jane is married to Dave Hess and their 21-year-old son Dave now farms with them on their 150-acre dairy farm in Lancaster.

Ruth Todd

Ruth, the youngest daughter, recalls many good times growing up on the family farm. She said, "Daddy always stressed working together and that no one is finished with his work until everyone is finished." Another aspect that she thinks encouraged positive attitudes toward farming stems from their mother never complaining about the pressures of farm life. "I remember her as a real helpmeet who made sure Daddy's desires were carried out. She encouraged

The farm exudes an idealism, a romantic notion. The good memories come flooding back and I forget about the pressures of things such as getting the hay in before the rain.

John Good

The third son of Charles, John Good, attributes his interest in farming to his father's attitude: "The farming soil was always dear to my father. He passed on a beautiful attitude that I cherish. I've enjoyed farming over the years and I've never considered anything else. He always taught that in raising a family it was important to be home with the family."

Today, John's nineteen year-old son Steve helps his dad fulltime on their 65-acre farm with 50 milking cows and 60,000 broilers. "There's more emphasis on vacation and pleasure now then when I was growing up," John said. "I don't remember staying away overnight while I was growing up; we were always back for milking. Today we spend some nights away even though we still need to work around a schedule."

Jane Hess

The eldest daughter, Jane, said that she recalls in her childhood, "Farming was always stressed as the most important thing—not education, reading, writing, and arithmetic. My father had a strong, but loving personality that conveyed if you do not go into farming it's the wrong way."

we girls to see that the men always had something to drink while they were working. To this day, I think it's important for me to be at home and see that the men have plenty to drink when they're working outside."

Although she remembers enjoying the farm while growing up, Ruth recalls that as an 18-years-old, the excitement of trying something different lured her. "For 18 years I grew up with farming, I was interested in seeing another side of life. I struggled with the desire to spend more time at a job requiring mental labor rather than manual labor. At that age I was too young to appreciate the values of growing up on the farm and I did not enjoy getting my hands dirty or in smelling the odors that farming sometimes emits."

She stressed, "Although my parents certainly never overworked me, I was attracted to eight-hour-day work schedules."

Love lured her back into farming. She said, her husband Jay Todd loves farming and it proved contagious. "You can't spend 20 years with someone and not love what they love." Today, she bales straw and hay and loves it.

Her change in attitude happened gradually, but when her children brought their classmates home from school, she said, "I began to realize how many children who are not exposed to seeds in the soil misunderstand how we get what we get."

Her daughters' friends are delighted and fascinated with helping make grape juice and picking produce from the garden. Ruth said, "I can't imagine what it would be like if my children had not grown up on the farm. It teaches them to structure their time, and develops a work ethic that their friends often lack."

"Farming was always stressed as the most important thing—not education, reading, writing, and arithmetic.

The Todds operate a beef and grain farm 500-acres in East Petersburg with Jay's brother. They serve other farmers by custom combining.

Bob Good

Thirty-three-year-old Bob, the youngest son, lives in Philadelphia. The city is a far cry from the tranquil country scenes of his Strasburg homestead.

It is with nostalgic thoughts that Bob recalls growing up on the farm. "I enjoyed the lifestyle, the sense of security and identity our family had together. Sometimes when I go back, I think this is what life is supposed to be. The farm exudes an idealism, a romantic notion. The good memories come flooding back and I forget about the pressures of things such as getting the hay in before the rain."

He recalls staying on the farm until 21 years of age. Then, he found the day to day demands of farming stifling and very controlled. He said, "It did not allow time to explore other opportunities or other kinds of people and work possibilities."

Although he found working with his hands enjoyable, he longed for more education, something beyond farm life. He left to attend college with no clear vision of where he was going except to follow his nose in studying history something he always loved. Now, he's been teaching high school history for seven years. Where did he get his interest in history? He answers, "My dad was always rich in oral history."

Bob said, "I think I could have been a very good farmer and enjoyed that life, but I felt like I had to break free. It was not easy to leave. Life requires a vital faith, a life that takes risks. People who want to pursue what's best for them must be willing to take risks."

Regardless of where people live, Bob believes they need an environment where they are free to pursue what best suits them. "Some are ideally suited to be farmers; others to different occupations. It's important for parents to allow that option."

Do You Know?

. . . that the median family income for 1986 was $29,460, according to the U.S. Census Bureau? Compared to 1985, this was an increase of $1,725, or a 4.2 percent gain.

. . . that the Census Bureau also reports that 28 percent of all 18- to 34-year olds live at home with their parents? High rents, more divorces and a tight job market were cited as contributing factors.

. . . that homeownership rates are dropping? 63.8 percent of all households owned their own home in 1986, down from 66 percent in 1980. Rising housing costs and the fact that young people are waiting longer before buying their first home are partially responsible for the decline.

Allentown Fair Dairy Show Champions

BY PAT PURCELL

ALLENTOWN (Lehigh) — It was a banner day for the Jersey breed and deservedly so. Two Jerseys were named the 1988 Allentown Fair supreme dairy cow and supreme dairy bull during the fair last week. Chester County is home to both of those winners.

Mildred Seeds, Jersey breeder from Downingtown captured several championships and first places throughout the Jersey on her way to taking home the supreme champion bull banner. Show judge, Steve Neely, sire analyst from Sire Power in Tunkhannock, could not say enough about the stylish animals from Seeds' dairy

"I must go with the Jersey bull for the supreme champion," said Neely. "This stylish, clean bull moves quite well on those hind legs and h;e's got a strong front end on him and I like that good, hard top line."

Seeds exhibited the reserve grand champion and the best uddered cow of the Jersey show. The best three females were also exhibited by Seeds.

Patty Jenkins of Toughkenamon captured the 1988 supreme champion dairy cow banner with her tall, long grand champion beauty. Neely selected Jenkins' junior-2-year-old on her exemplary mammary system and on the strength and correctness of her hind legs.

Karen Sanner took the 4-H junior champions in the Allentown Fair Jersey show. Henry Miller is also at the halter.

Troy Hendricks of Phoenixville exhibited the best uddered cow of the 4-H and open Guernsey show at the Allentown Fair.

In the Milking Shorthorn division the man whose name is known to many Milking Shorthorn breeders throughout Pennsylvania, Sam Yoder, celebrated a special anniversary this year. It was the fortieth appearance for the Yoder family of Shoemakersville at the Allentown Fair. Again, the Yoder's exhibited the grand champions in that breed.

Franklin County's Finest Take Titles In Dairy Show

BY BONNIE BRECHBILL
Franklin Co. Correspondent

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin) — For the second year in a row, JCY Sexation Apex earned the grand champion banner at the Franklin County Holstein Show for JCY Farms of Greencastle. Apex was also named best uddered cow and best bred and owned of the show, held August 25 at the Franklin County Fair.

A six-year-old, Apex was fresh in June and has a record of 27,140 pounds of milk and 1047 pounds of fat with a 3.8 percent test. The Ocean View Sexation daughter placed second in the dry cow class at the 1988 State Spring Show. In 1987, she took first place in the five-year-old class at the South-central Championship Show. She is classified 91 points. JCY Farms is owned and operated by Jaye C. Young and J. Chalmers Young, Jr.

Reserve senior and grand champion honors went to Antrim-Spring Farms of Chambersburg for Antrim-Spring Milestone Sylvia, a five-year-old. A Poverty Hollow Milestone daughter, she is classified VG-88. Last year, as a four-year-old, she topped her class at the fair. As a three-year-old, she made 17,096 pounds of milk and 553 pounds of fat. Antrim-Spring Farm is owned and operated by Harold F. Crider and sons Roger and Rodney Crider. The Criders were also named premier breeders and premier exhibitors.

Youth senior and grand champion was Meadow-Vu Glamorous Patty, a five-year-old Leadfield Columbus daughter owned by Thomas Eckstine of Mercersburg.

Youth reserve senior and grand champion honors went to Dar-View Wiseman Renita, owned by Michael Daugherty of Greencastle. The junior two-year-old is a Killdee Astrochief Wiseman daughter.

A summer yearling owned by Toby L. Horsh of St. Thomas was named junior champion of both the youth and open shows, and best bred and owned of the youth show. Ro-Meyer Heavenly Happy Merit had placed fourth in her class and second in 4-H at the Southcentral Championship show earlier this month. Her dam is Ro-Meyer Heavenly Hopeful, an 81-point cow with a record of 17,000 pounds of milk. The judge chose Merit as junior champion over her competitors for her spring of rib, size and scale.

Closer Look At Animal Drug Classification

DENVER, CO — "Food safety is a top issue among food processors and consumers alike," said Dr. R. A. Bowling of Monfort, a division of ConAgra, Greeley, Colo. "Food safety concerns will cause major changes in marketing procedure," he added.

The industry's move into branded, case-ready packaging requires the strictest quality-assurance programs. Animals must carry identification across the kill floor and into fabrication. If a quality-assurance problem occurs at the retail level, the brand will identify who has responsibility; which in turn means a trace has to be made back to the individual animal and producer.

The Animal Health Institute (AHI) also is addressing the food-safety issue. In their recent Animal Health Letter, AHI outlined two possible proposals to minimize the drug residue problem. One, which is favored by many veterinarians, would shift more drugs into the veterinary "prescription" category. The other approach is a documentation or certification program where producers would keep records of animal drugs used and report them each time a transfer of ownership is made.

AHI also has prepared proposals for changes in the drug-classification system. Currently, drugs that can carry adequate directions for safe use by the average layman are classified for over-the-counter sale. If adequate directions can not be written, products are classified as restricted or prescription. FDA proposes that drugs must be proven "safe" for lay use in order to qualify for over-the-counter sale whether or not adequate directions can be written.

Another approach is to simply classify more drugs as restricted based on usage. If this plan were implemented, almost all use of therapeutic drugs will require a veterinary prescription while the over-the-counter classification would primarily include production drugs such as medicated food additives.

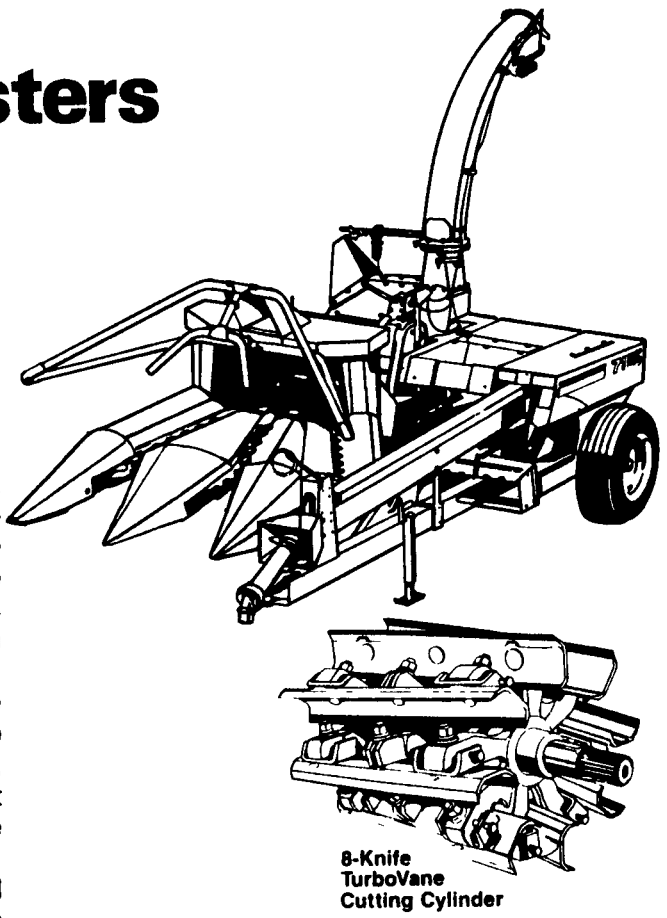
Hesston harvesters give more forage on less fuel.



Three Hesston Models... the 7165, 7155 and 7145... offer increased harvesting capacity with the revolutionary 8-Knife TurboVane Cutting Cylinder. This exclusive Hesston design features eight C-2 knives that produce high capacity "scissor-action" cutting that eliminates bunching and carry-over...and gives more output on less fuel!

The C-2 knives have two cutting edges that can be reversed for longer service life. And the Auto-Sharp Knife Grinder, standard on the 7155 and 7165, sharpens quickly and easily...anytime and anywhere! It is a self-indexing grinder that sharpens knives with the cylinder running in normal cutting direction.

Straight-Thru Crop-Flo puts more horsepower and fuel into cutting and less into crop handling...eliminates cross augers or spinners that can drain power and waste fuel. And Hesston's new auger base header unit allows you to work more crops on a lower overall investment!

If you want to forage more on less fuel, see one of the Hesston dealers listed below about Models 7145, 7155 and 7165... for tractors from 60 to 250 HP!

Reno, Mark & Jessica are observing Professor Jim Stouffer, Department of Animal Science, Cornell University using the new real time ultrasonic scanning procedure to measure fat thickness and loin eye area on the outstanding boars for the RPM Summer 1988 sale.

Get The "Inside" Picture At RPM FARMS

NEW TECHNIQUE GIVES PICTURE OF REAL LOIN EYE AND MEASURES BACK FAT IN LIVE HOG

The new technique in measuring loin eye area in live animals produces 2 complete cross sectional views immediately with contact of the transducer to the hog's hide. This new ultrasonic scanner makes complete scans 15 times a second. At RPM Farms, you can see what's under the skin of our lean, well-muscled Landrace, Yorkshires and Large Whites to make the right selection.

Numerous studies at Cornell University on market hogs just prior to slaughter with this innovative scanner have demonstrated it to be very accurate in predicting the lean content of pork carcasses

Under the SUN
The miracles of natural products, combined with technology, promise a more profitable future for farmers.

MIRACLE FEEDS, Inc., Your "By-Products Specialists", combines the miracle of nature with today's technology to bring you greater profits. One option is Wet Brewers Grains.

WHAT ARE WET BREWERS GRAINS? In the brewing of beer, only the highest quality barley and other cereal grains are used. Wet brewers grains are the portion of the grains that remain following the extraction of carbohydrates that takes place in the brewing process. They provide protein, fat and energy as well as essential minerals — while lowering your feed cost.

For FREE information about The Miracle Feeds Program write or call the office listed below. We'll do everything "Under the Sun" to help your feeding program.

CLEONA (Lebanon) — Lloyd Byers is the newly re-elected member of the Lebanon-Dauphin County Farmers Home Administration committee. He will serve a three-year term.

Buyers, a native of Dauphin County, and his wife, Dawn, own and operate a 300-acre dairy and crop farm in Middletown, Pa.

Other members of the FmHA County Committee include Larry Shade and Henry Martin.

The major functions of the committee include:

- Determining the eligibility of applicants for farm program type of loans, insured and guaranteed.
- Making recommendations on resolving problem farm cases.
- Conferring with the county supervisor on the servicing of FmHA loans and with respect to borrowers who should be referred to other credit sources.
- Making recommendations regarding applications for compromise, adjustements or cancellations of debts owned to FmHA.

The FmHA is a credit agency of the Department of Agriculture and makes farm loans for real estate and productions purposes as well as for nonfarm enterprises that supplement family income. The Agency has over the years enabled many farm families to stay on the land and succeed in farming.

The FmHA Cleona County Office provided more than $2,231,000.00 in loans and grants for farm and housing programs during the past fiscal year. The County Office on 528 East Penn Avenue, is headed by Michael R. Orendo, county supervisor; Brian D. Pedrick, assistant county supervisor; Seda M. Kleinfelter, county loan technician; Linda C. Dohner, county office assistant; and Melva K. Herr, county office clerk.

IS SUPERIOR FOR MANY REASONS

Case IH put more into the new MAGNUM tractor line than any farm tractors developed in over twenty years. Here's why you'll get more out of it.

MAGNUM means more. Outstanding field performance from a new 505 cubic inch turbocharged engine with reserve power. MAGNUM power.

The MAGNUM tractor's powershift puts 18 speeds of shift on the go workpower at your fingertips — standard. And only MAGNUM tractors offer a full powershift creeper transmission with six additional speeds from .5 to 21 mph for more control and performance. MAGNUM performance.

The MAGNUM tractor's new larger cab has 48 square feet of window area, virtually unobstructed visibility, more room, and more seating comfort. MAGNUM comfort.

It all adds up. Case IH MAGNUM tractors are setting new standards for the 130-195 PTO hp power range and for you. See us for details.

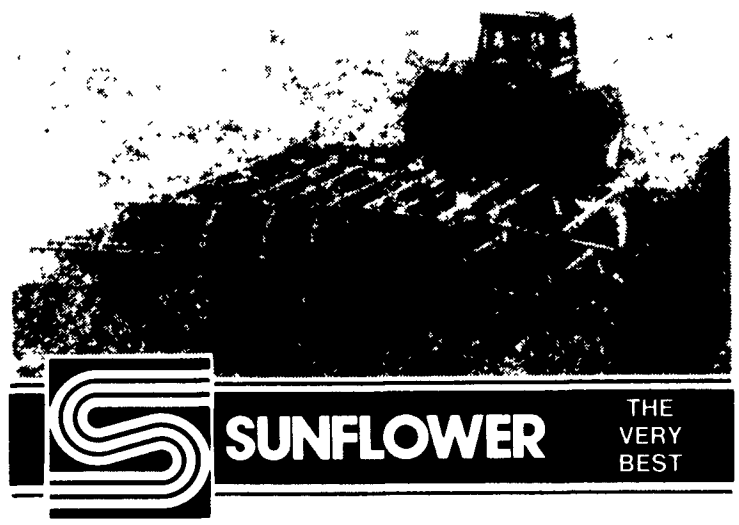
COME AND SEE ONE OF THE MOST RUGGEDLY BUILT DISK HARROWS ON THE MARKET TODAY

1231 DISC

THE DISC FOR THOSE WHO DEMAND EXCELLENCE
- IN DESIGN
- PERFORMANCE
- CUSTOMER ACCEPTANCE

3-SECTION FLEXIBLE TANDEM DISC HARROW

You just can't beat this one! It's at the top of the chart in performance and at a price you can afford. Come by and let us show you just how much quality your dollar can buy!



SUNFLOWER THE VERY BEST

When we say the new Sunflower Tandem Disc Harrow performs, that's just what we mean Whether you're working terraces, rolling country side or the flat lands, the Sunflower Tandem's flexible wings stretch out and follow ground contour without skipping, gouging or buckling The engineering concepts built into the new tandem have completely eliminated any possibility of side draft And what's the result of all of these features performance!

Heavy duty wing and lift cylinders, big 24 x¼ " disc blades, and a high carbon 1¼ " gang shaft are just a few of the distinctions that set the 1231 apart from other tandem discs in its class Big 2"x4" tubular steel tongue, durable tongue jack, and double lip hitch clevis makes up a tongue and hitch assembly that is virtually indestructible The wheel hub assembly features a 'Slip In' spindle for simple one bolt mounting 11L tires and tubes mounted on 15 x10 6 bolt wheels constitute a dual transport wheel assembly that effectively carries the load when transporting or when discing

GAUGE WHEELS
One standard feature that has become a trade mark with the Sunflower disc line is the front mounted guage wheel Two adjustable guage wheels prevent the front gangs from gouging, buckling and cutting deeper than the rear gangs

SPRING LOADED SCRAPERS
Optional spring loaded scrapers (Walkers) help minimize plugging by providing constant contact with the turning disc blade They feature adjustable arm angle, spring tension and replaceable blades

STRESS RESISTANT DESIGN
The Sunflower tandem disc harrow has the same high strength qualities that have given Sunflower discs a reputation of utilizing superb design and engineering techniques Areas of stress have been predetermined and strengthened to assure a quality product with "built in-durability" The hinge assembly constructed of heavy duty steel, has a greaseable sleeve and is securely welded to the massive 3"x5" gang bar Formed gussets anchor the gang bar to the 3"x5" steel frame.

These "stress-resistant" features of the Model 1231 Tandem Disc Harrow make it unprecedented in the field of medium weight tandems

SELF LEVELER
1. LOWERED POSITION In the lowered position, the self-leveler balances the front and rear weight of the disc This enables the total weight of the disc to be carried on the disc blades
2. RAISED POSITION In the raised position, the self-leveling action provides equal front and rear road clearance relationships

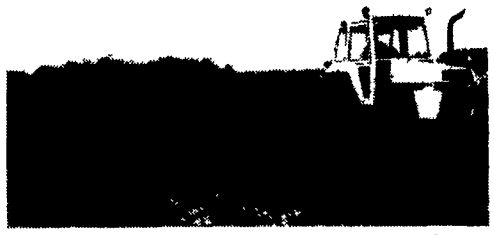
THE ONE SPREADER FOR A TWO-SPREADER FARM

A Gehl 300 Series Scavenger® II manure spreader handles all types of manure. It saves you time and money by bridging the gap between liquid and solid manure handling. It's the one tough, reliable machine built to cut right through your manure spreading problems. It's available in five sizes — from 912 to 2925 gallon capacities — so you can choose the one that best meets your operation's specialized needs.



Gehl has a patented, exclusive hydraulically raised and lowered internal auger to handle pen-packed material. That's why Gehl stands apart from the rest!

Manure from confinement housing can be quickly and easily loaded and delivered to your spreader with a versatile Gehl skid loader. The heaviest loads are no problem with a Scavenger® II manure spreader. It's built with heavy duty chain drive and rugged construction throughout. Your first glance will tell you the Scavenger® II is unlike any spreader you've ever seen.

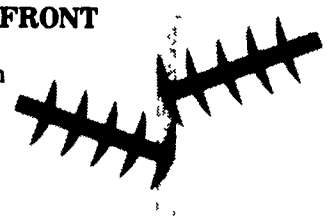
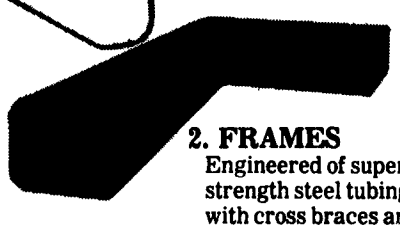
KRAUSE TILLAGE INNOVATORS INVENTED THE ROCKFLEX DISC TO BRING PLEASURE TO FARMERS

ALL KRAUSE DISCS SOLD BY HOOBERS HAVE THE 8 FEATURES SHOWN AT RIGHT

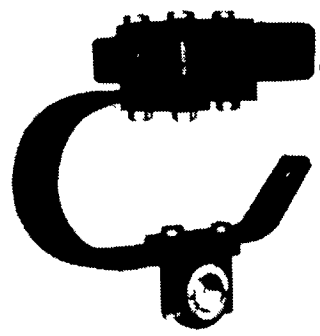
1. "SUPERSEAL" BEARINGS
Engineered to assure positive greasing directly into the cartridge. The triple lip seals keep grease in, dirt and moisture out.

5. OVERLAPPING FRONT DISC GANGS
A unique Krause design for smoother, more uniform field finish. It eliminates the center strip of untilled ground left by conventional tandem discs.





2. FRAMES
Engineered of super strength steel tubing with cross braces and gussets at major stress points.



6. "ROCKFLEX" BEARING ARMS
Krause invented the "Rock-Flex" arm in 1965. This unique C-shaped arm flexes over obstacles. It helps protect disc blades and spools from breakage. "SuperSeal" bearing is completely encased in rubber to absorb shock.

1...Rugged, dependable performance.

2...Excellent penetration in tough conditions.

3...Level job every time.

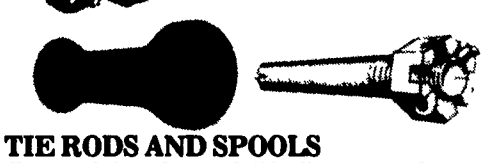
4...Higher resale value when it's time to trade or sell.

5...More timely planting.

6...More time with the wife.

3. WHEEL HUBS
Krause Made - Precision machined and regreasable. Every hub passes rigid inspection to assure proper tolerances.

7. WING HINGES
Krause uses big 1¾" diameter bolts on heavy duty units (1½" on medium duty) with over 10" of wear surface area.



4. TIE RODS AND SPOOLS
Alloy steel tie rods are 1¾" in diameter on heavy duty units (1½" on medium duty) - (30% to 70% stronger than many other brands.) There's a nut on both ends for easy servicing.
Krause spools are ductile iron, and weigh 20-to 30-lbs. each.

8. ROCKER SHAFTS
A full 6" in diameter with big steel tube wheel arms for maximum carrying capacity. Compare ours to other makes!

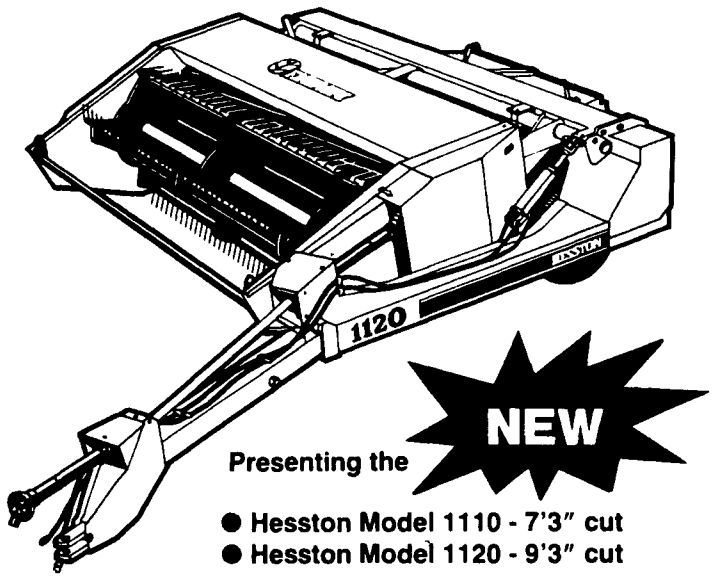
HESSTON THE PRIME LINE

Have It Your Way – Versatility With Economy!



Presenting the
- Hesston Model 1110 - 7'3" cut
- Hesston Model 1120 - 9'3" cut

These new Hesston pull-type mower-conditioners are designed to cut fast, dry hay quickly and save the leaves.

The reliable halfswaybar sickle drive (1700 spm) cuts the crop quickly and the standard 4 bat reel (5 or 6 bats optional) delivers the crop directly to the full width, engaging conditioner rolls. Swath shield can be changed easily by moving one lever, and forming shields are adjustable for any size of windrow.

See all of the value-packed features of these outstanding Hesston-built machines at your dealer today!

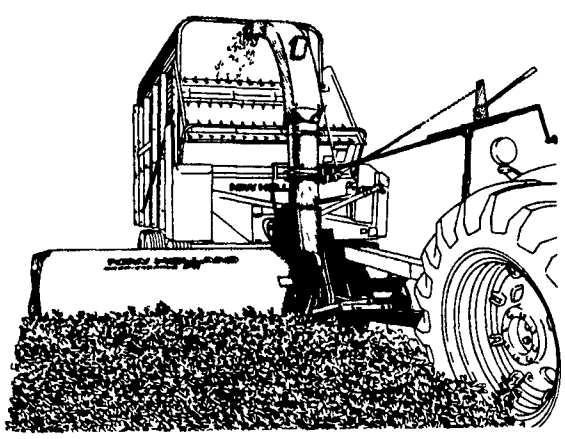
Exclusive – 12-knife cutterhead

High-quality feed is important to you So you'll like the fine uniform chop you get from the Model 718 forage harvester It's the only medium-duty chopper available with a 12 knife cutterhead to give you a controlled even cut The uniform length of cut makes for easier unloading blowing storing and feeding And you can choose from four crop saving heads—a one or two-row cornhead a windrow pickup or a sicklebar

Fill silos fast

The Model 30 forage blower has only one speed—FAST It keeps up with your harvester and wagons and fills silos quickly The secret of the Model 30's capacity is its 1,000 rpm driveline and the Whirl A Feed® hopper that gives the crop a running start before entering the blower And the hopper is a whopping 48 inches in diameter for reduced spillage If you're looking for a blower with amazing capacity ask us about the Model 30



All-seasons chopper

A Crop Chopper® is perfect for a variety of chopping jobs Use it to cut green feed, make bedding out of cornstalks or straw or shred and spread cornstalks for mulching It can even mow weeds or clear small brush and stubble

LET'S TALK RESULTS...

"SOLD IN AN HOUR!"
[illegible] of Lititz, PA, Lancaster Co. couldn't believe the results he had.
"I advertised 2 trailers for sale but said to call after 6:00. Both were sold by 7 pm Saturday & gone by Monday! Great paper — I'll be back!"

"I WANT MY PHONE TO STOP RINGING!!"
Ronald Harrison, Littlestown, Adams Co. called to cancel his ad. He was advertising cows, 35 head.
"CANCEL THE AD - I SOLD ALL MY COWS. I RECEIVED CALLS FROM ALL OVER! LATE AT NIGHT - EARLY IN THE MORNING - PLEASE CANCEL! IT WORKED!"

"It's Just Amazing Where Your Paper Goes!"
Said Adin Frey of Frey's Dairy, Chambersburg, PA who ran an ad for irrigation equipment.
"We received calls from Buffalo, N.Y., West Virginia & Connecticut. We were quite pleased!"

"WE NEVER ADVERTISED ANYTHING THAT DIDN'T GET SOLD!"
Said J. Herbert Frantz, Franklin Co., who stopped at our booth at the Farm Show.
"I CAME TO THE FARM SHOW TO RENEW MY SUBSCRIPTION TO LANCASTER FARMING!"
So many readers stopped by our booth to tell us how much they love Lancaster Farming & we thank you - it's so nice to know our work is appreciated!

WE ALWAYS GET CALLS & RESULTS!

"DO I GET RESULTS FROM MY AD?"
"You bet!" Gary Madey, Madey Farms, Somerset Co. advertises a list of tractors every week. Last week he sold one to a man from Bloomsburg & one to a man in Littlestown.
"I had a tractor that I couldn't give away last year. I finally advertised it in Lancaster Farming - had a man come down from Syracuse, NY to look at it - but ended up selling it locally! Keep my ad in - it works!"

"PLEASE CANCEL MY AD!"
Robert Smead from Northumberland Co., PA called to cancel his farm equipment ad after just one week.
"SOLD IT RIGHT OFF THE BAT! THANKS!"

"PICTURES IN OUR AD MADE A BIG DIFFERENCE!"
Chip Boyer with Larry Murphy Chevrolet, Lancaster, PA has been advertising used trucks with us for 2 years. About 2 months ago he started putting pictures of his trucks in the ad.
"A Lot More Calls...A Lot More Results!"
"We are very happy with Lancaster Farming. We had a sale as far away as New Hampshire. We plan to expand our advertising in 1988."

"WE'VE SOLD 115 TRACTORS SO FAR THIS YEAR FROM OUR AD IN LANCASTER FARMING!"
Said Elam Reiff of Reiff Farm Service, Shippensburg, PA. "We've tried other farm papers but we've never gotten any calls & their advertising rates are ridiculous. Lancaster Farming has the circulation & the right price. Can you believe I received a call from Maine last week!"

"GOOD PAPER... WE ENJOY VERY MUCH!"
R.L. Holcombe, Dushore, Sullivan Co., PA came to our office to place another ad.

Sollenberger Has Open House

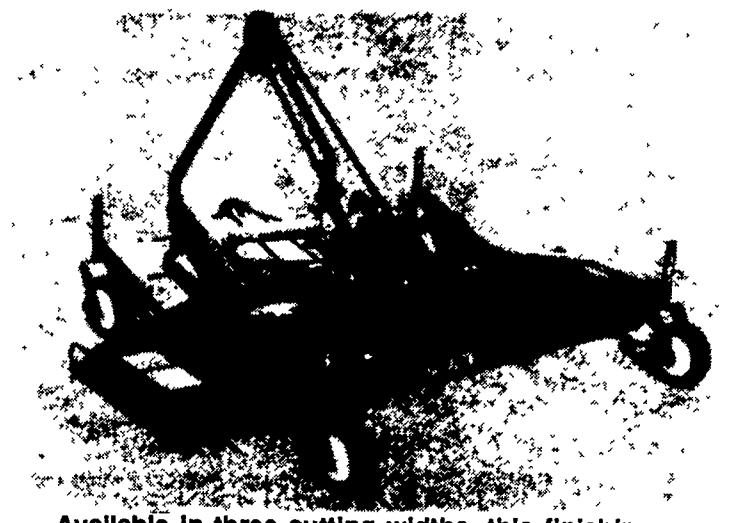
GREENCASTLE (Franklin) — A top unloading silo with many of the advantages of a bottom unloader was displayed recently at an open house at the Edwin Eby farm, Greencastle. The 20' by 64' conventional silo was erected by Sollenberger Silos of Chambersburg.

According to Eby, the Big Jim unloader did not cost nearly as much as a bottom unloader would have. Also, Eby said he wanted to be able to fill the silo and then feed his cows immediately. "There are only three switches to change between filling and feeding," he said. "This unloader can do everything a bottom unloader can do except feed the old feed first." Switches with automatic sensors raise the unloader during the filling process.

Eby built the silo for haylage, but said that this year it may end up with some corn silage in it.

Robert Francis, product sales manager for Sollenberger Silos, said that the unique walk-through tunnel in the base is convenient for use, servicing and installation. The tunnel provides access to the bottom of the vertical hole that runs through the center of the silo. Silage is fed down through the hole to a conveyor belt. With this set-up, the silo is less likely to jam up, Eby said, and easier to unjam if it does become clogged.

Edwin Eby stands by the conveyor belt he uses in conjunction with his new Big Jim top unloader.



Available in three cutting widths, this finishing mower provides a cutting height of 1-½ to 6 inches.

Bush Hog Introduces Finishing Mowers

MOBILE, Al. — Bush Hog's new Turf Hog finishing mower produces clean, close grass cutting for parks, golf courses, grounds and lawns at an economical price.

"Appearance is the key factor in evaluating the job done by a finishing mower," said Robert O. Moore, vice president, sales. "The Turf Hog has many standard features built in to insure that it provides a fast, smooth cut."

Availble in 48-, 60- and 72-inch cutting widths for 11 to 40 HP tractors, the Turf Hog provides a cutting height of 1½ to 6 inches. Cutting height can be easily adjusted to ½ inch increments.

The Turf Hog's parallel uplift blades overlap 1½ inches to help prevent streaking. Blade tip speeds of up to 16,443 feet per minute improve cutting performance by creating the suction needed to stand the grass up for clean cutting.

A side discharge deflector gives a clean, manicured look to the lawn and the standard front-mounted roller prevents scalping. Scalping is further reduced by skids positioned one-half inch below the blades. A floating top linkage and leveling chains give more uniform cutting action on rolling terrain. Floating lower linkages allow the mower to ride over objects on the left side independently of the right side for a closer cut. Unique caster wheel design provides consistent mowing height in forward or reverse.

The Kevlar drive belts are protected against heat build-up by heat dissipating louvers in the front and rear channel sections. They are easily changed and adjusted.

The 3½ inch deep deck is all welded formed steel construction reinforced by 11-gauge formed channels front and rear. The front band is formed at a 60-degree angle to allow the grass to spring back for better cutting.

For further information, contact Bush Hog, Dept. TH-NR, P.O. Box 1039, Selma AL 36702-1039.

Kubota To Manufacture In U.S.

COMPTON, CA. — Kubota Ltd., one of Japan's leading industrial manufacturers, expands its U.S. operations with the construction of a 70,000 square foot manufacturing plant on 151 acres in Gainesville, a suburb of Atlanta, Ga. Scheduled to be in production by January 1, 1989, Kubota Manufacturing of America (KMA) will initially employ 50 employees and manufacture loaders for Kubota tractors.

"We have great expectations for our first American facility," said Mr. Uda, executive managing director of Kubota Ltd. (KBT) of Japan. "We plan to expand its production to include the manufacturing and assembly of other products developed to meet the needs of the U.S. market."

Initially, KMA will distribute exclusively in the U.S. through Kubota Tractor Corporation (KTC). Mr. S. Egusa, chairman of KMA, president of KTC and managing director of Kubota Ltd., was instrumental in the decision to build this plant. "KTC will be able to meet the customer's changing needs more quickly," said Egusa. "Bringing the engineering quality of KBT together with America's high technology production capabilities will give us an edge on the competition."

As production grows, KMA plans to export its products worldwide.

Corporate officers of KMA present for the recent groundbreaking ceremonies included Mr. T. Nomoto, president, and Mr. Donald Wieser, vice president of manufacturing.

Kubota Tractor Corporation currently markets a full range of tractors from 10 to 85 PTO horsepower, compact construction equipment, lawn and garden and consumer products, and a variety of implements and attachments.

White-New Idea Introduces Ag One Branded Parts, Supplies

COLDWATER, OHIO — After spending months of research and development, White-New Idea Farm Equipment Company has announced a new branded line of parts and supplies called Ag ONE.

According to Director of Parts, Rod Cooper, the Ag ONE branded parts idea became possible with the consolidation of White Farm Equipment and New Idea Farm Equipment. "With many of the same parts being built and used on both White equipment and New Idea equipment, there was much duplication in the parts system," said Cooper. The Ag ONE Parts and Supplies has combined inventories and uniform labeling, including part numbers, logo and packaging. Cooper noted that Ag ONE parts offering opens up a whole new door of opportunities.

The Ag ONE Parts Operation provides Parts and Supplies to both White Farm Equipment and New Idea dealer organizations under one system. The Ag ONE operation first will affect stock items such as lubricants, batteries, paint, pressure washers, bearings, roller chains, fasteners and hardware, and hydraulic hoses and fittings.

With Ag ONE Parts and Supplies, White and New Idea dealers ag ONE BY WHITE-NEW IDEA will be able to offer non-ag parts and supplies. This will benefit farm customers by stopping into one place and being able to purchase various other supplies. Plus Ag ONE parts and supplies can be used on competitive equipment.

With the competitive pricing of quality OEM parts, Ag ONE packaging will offer dealers the opportunity to compete effectively with automotive and fleet stores as well as other agricultural or industrial equipment dealers.

Harvestore Selects New Ag Sales Manager

DeKALB, IL. — Richard L. (Rick) Jones has been named general sales manager for agricultural markets at A.O. Smith Harvestore Products, Inc. The announcement was made here by James C. Schaap, president.

The company is a leading manufacturer of feed and manure storage systems, automated feeding equipment, and storage systems for drinking water, waste treatment, and dry bulk materials for the municipal and industrial markets.

A 1969 graduate of the University of Illinois, Jones has been with Harvestore for 19 years. He began his career as an experimental engineer, and has also served as product manager for Slurrystore brand manure handling systems; as general product manager; and most recently as director of product performance, service, and warranty.

In his new position, Jones will assume responsibility for agricultural sales and marketing programs and coordination of the company's U.S. and Canadian agricultural dealer organization. Besides the marketing staff, he will continue to supervise the product performance group.

He lives in Algonquin, Ill. with his wife, Linda, and their four children.

Pioneer Selects New Field Sales Manager

MT. JOY (Lancaster) — A veteran agronomist has been selected by Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc. to serve as field sales manager for the eastern sales area.

Bill Fleet, presently field sales agronomy manager, assumed his new role on September 1, according to John Weidman, Pioneer area sales manager. Fleet fills the position that was vacated by Bob Kalton, who became area sales manager for Pioneer in southern Indiana and southern Ohio.

In his new role, Fleet will provide leadership and guidance to the nine districts included in the Eastern sales area, that includes 11 northeastern states.

Fleet has served as manager of agronomy services in the Eastern sales area since 1986. Prior to that, he was a field sales agronomist for Pioneer in the Northeast.

Fleet received a bachelor's degree from Pennsylvania State University. He also earned a dual master's degree in agronomy and farm management.

Fleet and his wife, Michele, live in Manheim, Pennsylvania.

Key To High-Yield Corn Is Disease-Resistance Quality

DeKALB, IL. — The mid-Atlantic states, led by Pennsylvania, currently grow 2.6 million acres of corn per year to support a large dairy and growing poultry industry. A key to growing high-yielding hybrids in the East is selecting hybrids with excellent disease resistance. A disease that deserves attention is Gray leaf spot (GLS), says DeKalb-Pfizer Genetics agronomist Tom Hall. Hall notes that GLS is a definite problem in the mountain and river valleys of southeast Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Gray leaf spot overwinters on old corn stalks, which means that the conservation tillage practices most farmers use probably facilitate the occurrence of Gray leaf spot. However, Hall feels that in most cases the moisture and soil saving advantages of conservation tillage outweigh the possible yield reduction from GLS. If a field is severely infected, then fall moldboard plowing or rotation may become necessary. However, the use of varieties tolerant to GLS, such as DK689, and rotation are adequate to offset most yield loss.

Hall warns there is currently no genetic resistance to GLS. Therefore, it is important to be on the lookout for GLS beginning about July 1. Mature foliage lesions symptomatic of Gray leaf spot are gray to tan, long (3/4 to 2 1/2 inches), narrow (1/8 to 1/4 inch), very rectangular lesions that run parallel to the leaf veins. In severely diseased corn, the narrow lesions coalesce and blight much of the leaf surface. Severe infections are most likely to occur under wet, humid conditions.

DeKalb research is screening for genetic resistance for future hybrids, but until then, rotation and hybrids tolerant to GLS, like DK689, are the best way to handle this disease.

Area Manager Named Soybean Market Builder

MOUNT JOY (Lancaster) — James Musser of Mount Joy has been awarded an MBA (Market Builders Award) in recognition of outstanding service to soybean farmers of Pennsylvania by the American Soybean Association and ICI Americas.

ASA and ICI Americas strongly oppose the subsidies the European Community is using to encourage European farmers to grow oilseeds, and will work together to find applicable solutions to the problem. This is the second year that ASA and ICI Americas have worked together in building soybean markets worldwide.

ASA and ICI Americas sponsor the Market Builders Program to recognize the role elevator managers play in providing information to help soybean farmers profit through better marketing decisions. To qualify for an MBA, an elevator manager needs to demonstrate service to soybean farmers and support for soybean marketing, promotion and research programs.

Musser has managed the M&R Grain Company elevator for 17 years, and has handled soybeans for 10 years.

"Quality is the name of the game," he said. "It doesn't matter whether you deliver your soybeans to a foreign country or to your next door neighbor."

Venango County Steer Sets Fair Sale Record

FRANKLIN (Venango) — A simmental steer, selected for grand championship honors at the Venango County Fair, brought distinction to its young 4-H owner, Joshua Smith, and it also set a fair record at the livestock sale held in Philips Arena.

With lively bidding the 1,314-pound steer commanded $5 a pound from Hoss's Steak and Sea House, for a grand total of $6,570. The previous fair record for a steer was $3.30, showing a handsome $1.70 increase in the top price.

The reserve grand champion steer was a simmental/angus cross weighing 1,210 pounds, owned by Jeff Etzel. Farrell Golden Dawn made the top bid of $2.40 a pound.

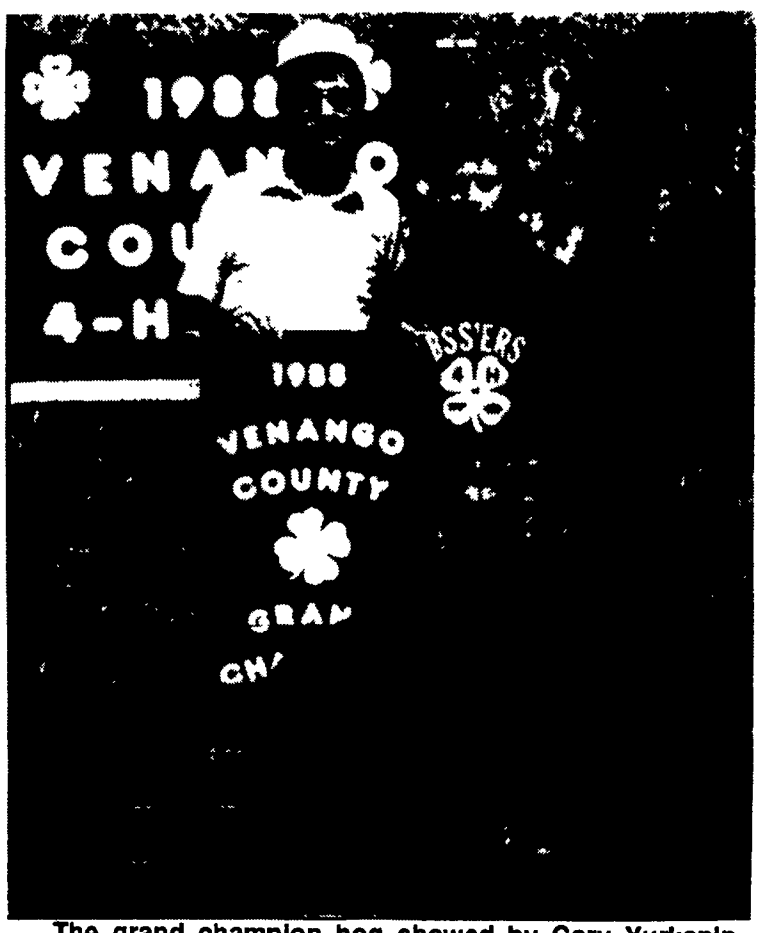
George McQuiston owned the grand champion market lamb, weighing 122 pounds, receiving $5.25 from Farrell Golden Dawn for that animal.

April McQuiston, owner of the reserve champion 114-pound lamb, sold it to Oil City Agway for $4.25 a pound.

The top pairs of lambs from the fair also were auctioned. Jessica Deets' grand champion pair weighed 209 pounds and went to D.J. Cheresnowski of Ski's Market, Clintonville, for $3 a pound. The reserve champion pair, weighing 220 pounds and owned by Chad Reitz, was bought by Pennsy Auto Parts for $2.50 a pound.

Cory Yurkanin's top hog, weighing 240 pounds, went to Farrell Golden Dawn for $3.01 a pound. Misty Shuffstall's 253-pound reserve champion was sold to Mowry's Meat in Sandy Lake for $2 a pound.

Bringing a sale record of $5 per pound, the grand champion steer owned by Joshua Smith, second from right, went to Hoss' Steak & Sea House. The total price for the steer was $6,570.



The grand champion hog showed by Cory Yurkanin, right, sold to Farrell Golden Dawn for $3.01 per pound.

Although the top steer price set a record, the general run of prices was down a little from previous years.

York County Swine Sale

YORK — Breeding stock and 50 Farm Show-age pigs will be sold at the Pride of York County Swine Sale on Saturday, September 17 at 12:30. The sale, held at the York County Fairgrounds, features all swine breeds. For more information, contact Dave Holloway at 717/235-6966.

Montgomery County Champion 4-H Steer

Washington County Hog Brings $4.10 Bid

WASHINGTON, CO. - W.R. Sellers Hog Buying Station of Greencastle, presented Kevin Martin of Smithsburg, Maryland a unique birthday present when they purchased his grand champion hog for $4.10 per pound at the sale of champions of the Washington County Ag Expo. For Kevin, this was both a happy as well as sad 19th birthday. It marks the end of his very successful hog showing career in 4-H.

On the night before the sale, Kevin had once again captured the grand champion fitting and showing trophy. This was the tenth time Kevin won grand champion fitting and showing in the Swine Show. Kevin has been undefeated since his last year as a junior 4-H member.

When asked how he goes about selecting a hog for fitting and showing, he said, "I like to pick one that is easy to handle and that will clean up good. Most of the pigs I have shown were farrowed on our farm, but this year, I picked Hamp pig that was purchased at the Greencastle Feeder Pig sale."

During his 4-H career, Kevin has been in the winner's circle more often than not and wishes to thank the many businesses that have made his hog showing days happy as well as profitable.

The grand champion hog at the Washington County Ag Expo was shown by Kevin Martin, who sold it for $4.10 per pound to W.R. Sellers Hog Buying Station in Greencastle.

New York Bull Test Nominations Due

CORNING, NY — Nominations are now being accepted for the 1988-89 New York Bull Test sponsored by the New York Beef Cattlemen's Association, Cornell Cooperative Extension, and NYS Department of Ag & Markets. Beef producers must nominate their eligible bulls by October 14.

William Greene, extension associate at Cornell University, is director of the performance test for beef-breed bulls. Greene said only 100 bulls meeting the specified requirements will be accepted. "The primary purpose of this performance testing program is to evaluate bulls under unbiased, uniform conditions and to make these performance-tested bulls available to beef-cattle breeders."

In last year's test, 72 bulls from 51 consignors set standards for weight gains. The 1987-88 class of bulls completed the 140-day test by setting a cumulative average daily gain (ADG) record of 3.96 pounds. Also achieved was a record weight per day of age (WPDA) of 3.24 pounds. Eight of the 36 bulls selling achieved "Certified Superior" status. The $2,341 average brought by the 36 bulls eligible for the sale was also a new record. Also, two of the bulls sold for $5,000 each and another brought $4,800.

The Bull Testing Program again will be held at the Cornell University Teaching & Research Center at Harford, N.Y. Nominated bulls must be registered or eligible for registration or recording in a beef registry association. Bulls must be at least ¾ of any one beef breed. Eligible bulls must have been born during the period February 1 to April 15, 1988. The bull calves must weigh 550 pounds and must have a minimum frame size of four for British breeds and five for Continental breeds when delivered to the test station.

"Buyers are aware of the value of performance, and demonstrated this in last year's sale. Efforts are continually being made by the Bull Test Committee to provide more pertinent information regarding the bulls. For example, Estimated Progeny Difference (EPD) and ribeye measurement will be provided for the 1988-89 Test," said Greene. He also encouraged beef breeders to talk with past consignors and buyers. "The quality of bulls available through the New York Bull Test program can be seen in the improved quality of calves in New York feeder cattle sales."

"We intend to make every effort to conduct the test with the best management possible under our conditions," said Greene. "We encourage all breeders both in and out-of-state that have potential herd sires that meet our requirements to nominate their bulls to our test."

Nominations forms and further information are available from William Greene, Beef Cattle Extension, 130 Morrison Hall, Cornell University, Ithaca, NY 14853 or by calling 607-255-2856 or 255-7112.

Wool Growers Call For Answer To Lamb Market Downturn

DENVER, Co. — The National Wool Growers Association Board of Directors and concerned producers and feeders searched for an answer to the downturn in the lamb market during the Summer Board of Directors Meeting in Salt Lake City on August 17.

The serious economic problem took top business priority at the two-day session of committee and general sessions. Producer lamb prices dropped 23.5 percent from June 1987 to June 1988, while retail prices rose slightly. Prices dropped from 82 cents in March to 52 cents in August, causing nationwide producer concern.

The NWGA and the American Sheep Producers Council Lamb Committee initiated work to alleviate the market stress, talking with packers and assessing the market situation.

Continued work on a plan to consolidate the sheep industry's three major organizations -- NWGA, ASPC and National Lamb Feeders Association -- was again given approval by the Board of Directors. A special board meeting to discuss the consolidation was called for October 15. The board is expected to draft a recommendation to the full membership at that time, to be presented at the American Sheep Industry Convention January 18-21 in Las Vegas.

Jansma Promoted To Associate Dean, International Programs

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre) — Dr. J. Dean Jansma has been promoted from assistant dean and director of international agricultural programs in the College of Agriculture at Penn State to associate dean for international agricultural programs in the College of Agriculture effective July 1.

"The promotion recognizes the importance of international programs in the college and the role Dr. Jansma plays in enhancing this effort," said Dr. Lamartine F. Hood, dean of the College of Agriculture. "The increased activity in our international programs is a tribute to the good work he has done during his relatively short tenure in this position."

Jansma was named assistant dean in 1984. His responsibilities include planning, developing and coordinating management and financing of international programs and studies in the College of Agriculture.

Since 1981 he has had overall responsibility for the development and implementation of the Swaziland Cropping Systems and Extension Training Project, supported by a $9.6 million contract from the U.S. Agency for International Development.

He was recently elected chairperson of the Board of Trustees of the Southeast Consortium for International Development, an organization representing 33 universities engaged in agriculture and related development activities in developing countries.

Jansma is a professor of agricultural economics. Prior to his appointment to the international office, he taught courses in resource economics and international agriculture and conducted research in rural development and resource economics policy.

During his nearly 20 years in the Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology, Jansma was primary academic advisor to more than 20 graduate students from developing countries. He also participated in designing and developing international agricultural agriculture projects in Africa and Asia.

Before coming to Penn State, Jansma was employed as an agricultural economist with USDA, a research analyst with the U.S. Government and a research assistant at Iowa State University.

He has a bachelor of science and master of science degrees from Iowa State and a Ph.D. from Oklahoma State University.

Landisville Field Day Features Research

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre) — While recent rains have been a boon to Pennsylvania farmers, the effects of this summer's drought continue. Next week corn and soybean growers can get up-to-date information on drought management practices at Penn State's annual Southeastern Field Research Laboratory Field Day in Landisville, Wed., Sept. 14 from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

Penn State researchers in the College of Agriculture will be on hand to discuss a number of drought related issues such as nitrogen carryover, corn growth under drought conditions and how some varieties of soybeans respond to drought.

Farmers also can get information on nitrogen tests for corn, corn insecticide trials, controlling corn and soybean insects, as well as information on the interaction of corn tillage, nitrogen and covercrops. Faculty also will discuss specifics on weed control and the latest on hybrid testing and breeding.

The Southeastern Field Research Laboratory at Landisville is one of three field research laboratories operated by Penn State's College of Agriculture. The 106-acre research farm in Lancaster County is suited ideally to studies of intensive crop production. In addition to corn and soybean research, current projects include small grain research, weed control and management practices to control forage diseases and insects.

The field laboratory is located on Auction Road, two miles northwest of Landisville. The Corn and Soybean Field Day on Wed., Sept. 14 is free and open to the public from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Lunch will be available from the Society of Farm Women #5. For more information, contact field lab director John Yocum at (717) 653-4728.

SLICK CONCRETE CAN BE ROUGHENED

SCABBLING is an effective way to avoid unnecessary losses of cattle. The SCABBLER makes bands about two inches wide approximately 1/8" to 3/16 in. depth. This gives sufficient area for good footing while allowing you to scrape the smooth surface as before. It is near enough to the surface to give your cows full advantage of the roughness and deep enough to remain effective for years. It greatly aids in heat detection.

And the good news is that it is reasonably priced. You have the choice of doing it yourself or having us do it for you. We offer service right to your door. Call us for more details.

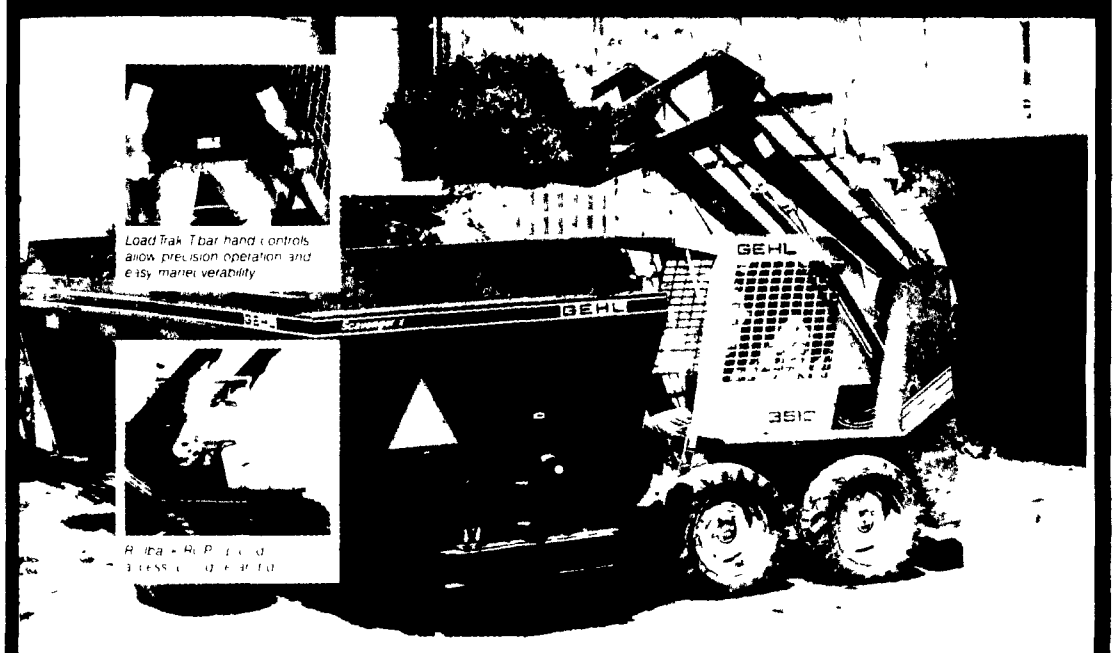
GEHL



Fast and Easy

You'll get more jobs done faster and easier with a Gehl skid loader. That's because Gehl's exclusive Load-Trak T-bar hand controls are easy to operate with no complicated foot pedals to slow you down. As a result, you have greater maneuverability, plus more precise bucket and drive control.

Inside and out, a Gehl skid loader is built for precision operation, with additional user-friendly features such as these:

- Built-in secondary operator restraint safety bar serves as a comfortable padded arm rest
- Quick Lock attachment change gets you ready to go to work fast with the attachment of your choice: specialty and utility buckets, manure forks, back hoe, trencher, pallet fork, utility fork with grapple, tree digger, hydraulic auger and more
- ROPS enclosure rolls back for easy serviceability; engine access is easy, too
- Smooth-rolling lift action keeps loads in the bucket

Stop in at your Gehl dealer and test drive a versatile Gehl skid loader. You'll see why it sets a fast pace on any job. Seven models to choose from, with 750 lb. to 2,050 lb. SAE operating capacities.

Convenient Gehl Finance can make your Gehl skid loader even more attractive and affordable with the low interest rates and payment options. Gehl Company, West Bend, Wisconsin 53095

NOBODY HAS MORE HORSEPOWER UNDER FORTY.

Under forty horses, nobody sells more tractors than we do. One reason is simple. We give you more choices.

There are sixteen compact sizes, each a different model. One of them should fit you perfectly. And once you settle on the horsepower, there are still more choices.

Pick special options like 4-wheel drive, power steering or a hydraulic shuttle transmission. Or choose a Kubota-made implement, the best match for any of our Kubota tractors.

There are, however, a couple of decisions we've made for you.

For example, Kubota's own liquid-cooled diesel engine comes standard in every model. An advanced design, it's built for efficient operation. So a little horsepower works like more.

We've also chosen the color.
